Gov. Wallace To See Rights Group Today

Ala. Boycott Suggestion Under Fire

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Walalace agreed Monday to meet with a group of civil rights leaders in a confrontation that might ease the state's racial strife or prolong it.

His decision was announced amid growing criticism of a proposed nationwide boycott of Alabama products as a part of the civil rights campaign.

Wallace's office said only that he would meet at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday with a committee of civil rights leaders.

An informed source said, however, that it would be essentially the same group that failed to see Wallace last Thursday after a massive civil rights march to the statehouse.

Negro leaders said then they wanted to petition the governor to help remove barriers to voting, including the $1.50 per year poll tax. They also said they would protest "police brutality."

Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers said he hoped to have enough evidence to seek first-degree murder indictments next month in the night-rider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo of Detroit, a participant in the Thursday march.

Funeral In Detroit

Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Detroit for the attractive mother of five — the third person killed within six weeks of the Alabama racial struggle.

Memorial services were planned by civil rights groups at Selma. A spokesman, Donald Doss of Long Island, N.Y., said services would be held simultaneously at the site of the slaying and at a Selma church.

Doss said there would be an attempt to place 10 caskets on the steps of the Capitol here to symbolize the slayings of that many civil rights participants in recent years.

The Justice Department said that one of its representatives would contact Georgia and Alabama Ku Klux Klan leaders who asked for a conference with President Johnson. The Klansmen requested the meeting after Johnson assailed the robed order following the arrest of four Birmingham area Klansmen in the slaying of Mrs. Liuzzo.

Fourth Man Free On Bond

At Birmingham, the fourth man charged in the slaying, Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., was released on bond. He had been held without bond on a charge of violating probation which followed his previous conviction of possessing a sawed-off shotgun.

U.S. Dist. Judge Seybourne H. Lynn fixed bond at $500 for Wilkins on the probatoin violation charge. Wilkins earlier had posted $50,000 bond on the federal conspiracy charge. The other three men had been released on bond earlier.

Casualties, Destruction Are Heavy

Scores Inside, Outside Building Killed, Injured

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A powerful bomb exploded at the U.S. Embassy Tuesday, causing death and destruction inside the building and among passersby in the street.

According to first reports, one of the casualties was a ranking member of the embassy, but it was not known how many others were wounded. The blast was heard throughout the city.

Contacted inside the embassy shortly after the blast, Deputy Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson was asked if he was all right.

He said, "Yes, but we have been hit. We will need some medical assistance." Johnson apparently suffered a few cuts.

Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor is currently in Washington.

Some reports said three Americans may have been killed. As many as 20 Vietnamese were reported killed.

The walls of the embassy appeared to be not badly damaged. At the base of the building the walls are two feet thick.

Several hundred embassy officials and employes work in the five-story concrete building.

Mass Of Broken Bodies

Outside the embassy there was a bloody mass of broken bodies.

Among them were at least 17 Vietnamese, some dead, many badly wounded.

At least seven Americans were carried wounded from the embassy.

Windows and shutters on two sides of the corner building were shattered.

At least seven vehicles in the street were smashed and burning.

The bomb appeared to have been placed in a vehicle in the street.

The U.S. Consulate on the ground floor of the building was wrecked.

Scene Of Chaos

It was a scene of chaos. Seven ambulances arrived within five minutes of the explosion.

Bloody footprints were left by the injured who had run away from the area but there were no immediate estimates of the number of Americans wounded or killed. It was believed that at least a score were casualties.

Three Americans were seen being carried off, bleeding severely.

Crowds of Vietnamese pressed in close to the embassy in the confusion.

Assassination attempts were made in 1961 and 1962 against two former U.S. ambassadors. Both failed.

In recent months police have intercepted several loads of explosives apparently destined for the embassy.

Southerners Argue Against Vote Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Southerners attacked the administration's voting rights bill Monday as a scattershot proposal that would endanger unrelated state laws.

At the same time a civil rights-labor union coalition began working to broaden the bill's impact.

James J. Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond, Va., News-Leader, said the bill's approach to voting problems is like "dropping an atomic bomb to kill a few squirrels."

The southerners testified against the bipartisan measure before House and Senate judiciary committees. They criticized particularly the section which assumes discrimination against potential Negro voters in any state where less than 50 per cent of the state's eligible population registered or voted last November.

Elsewhere in the city, a workshop of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, including several civil rights groups, said this proposal did not go far enough. They recommended adding to the bill's coverage area some counties in Arkansas, Florida, Tennessee and Texas that presently would be exempt.

Joseph L. Rauh, counsel for the leadership conference on civil rights, said his group would give congressmen a series of proposed amendments Tuesday.

They would penalize anyone intimidating Negroes seeking to vote; broaden the bill's coverage, and eliminate requirements that a voting applicant first try to register with state officials before going directly to a federal voting examiner.

U.S. Fleet Harassing Ships, Russian Says

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet sea captain charged Monday that ships and planes from the U.S. 7th Fleet are harassing Russian cargo ships off Viet Nam.

The captain's charges coincided with a statement from the North Vietnamese Foreign Ministry accusing the U.S. fleet of provocations against Vietnamese fishing vessels and merchant ships of different countries.

Workers Dig In Sea Of Mud For Victims

EL COBRE, Chile (AP) — Survivors sobbed their fateful stories Monday in this tiny mining village buried beneath tons of rubble in Chile's worst earthquake in five years.

Their wails and the roar of a few pieces of earth-moving machinery broke an otherwise somber silence as an army of rescue workers dug into a sea of mud and rock that roared down from a mountain with the lightning speed of an express train.

Only a few of the 400 inhabitants escaped after the quake burst a 230-foot-high dam and unleashed two million tons of rubble Sunday.

One miner in the community, 80 miles north of Santiago, found only a mass of mud where his wife and eight of their nine children were buried. A ninth child, who was not at home, escaped with the father.

The miner talked to newsmen for a few moments and then turned away, grabbed a shovel and began digging in the mud he believed was the site of his home.

Others also were digging, policemen, soldiers, Boy Scouts, workers — anyone willing to wield a pick or shovel.

They had no hope of finding survivors, only a few personal effects, and even these were rare. Relatives watched numbly.

By early afternoon, 18 bodies had been brought out on blanket-covered stretchers.

Elsewhere, 25 other persons were reported dead, hundreds injured and thousands homeless. Damage was estimated in the millions of dollars.

President Eduardo Frei toured the stricken area and then went into an emergency session with his cabinet to map out a relief program. U.S. officials in Washington indicated the United States was ready to provide aid.

More than a dozen towns and cities across populous central Chile, north of Santiago, the capital, felt the strongest effects of the upheaval Sunday. Panic-stricken residents fled into the streets as buildings buckled and fires erupted.

The epicenter of the quake was near the railway and highway junction of Llay-Llay, 50 miles north of the capital. Seven persons were reported dead there and nearly every building was either damaged or destroyed.

Extensive damage also was reported in Valparaiso, Chile's leading port and second largest city, 80 miles northwest of Santiago.

Taylor, LBJ's Advisers Air Viet Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military and diplomatic chiefs received a first hand report on the war in Viet Nam from Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor Monday.

Taylor, who flew in from Saigon Sunday, conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He also arranged to meet with his predecessor, former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, who now is President Johnson's special adviser on Viet Nam.

As Taylor carried on his third round of consultations within nine months, the State Department said a study is being made of the extent of free-world trading with North Viet Nam.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the analysis is designed also to show what kind of cargo is being carried by free-world vessels into North Viet Nam.

MOSCOW (UPI)—Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev will sign a 20-year extension of the Soviet-Polish friendship treaty when he visits Poland early next month.

ICC Examiners Approve Merger Of Pennsy, NYC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Merger of the east's two railroad titans into a Pennsylvania-New York Central System—largest in the nation—was recommended Monday by Interstate Commerce Commission examiners.

"The over-all benefits to be derived from consummation of the proposed merger clearly outweigh any injury," they concluded.

Their recommendation—a 446-page report—goes now to the full 11-member commission for consideration that may take another year.

If the ICC approves, the nation's No. 1 and No. 3 railroads, in terms of corporate assets, will be linked in a 19,631-mile system with assets exceeding $5.38 billion.

The Penn-Central system would serve 14 states, the District of Columbia and Canada, and most major northern cities between the East Coast and the Mississippi.

The proposed merger has been opposed by the Justice Department on the ground it would reduce competition.

Pennsy, with assets of $3 billion, realized a net income last year of $52 million on revenues of $907 million. Central's net income was $35 million on revenues of $733 million. Its assets were listed as $2.38 billion.

While their merger would not cure all the ills of eastern railroading, the examiners said, it would "provide a vehicle through which at least one or more of the external pressures which have had such disastrous effects upon these roads can be minimized."

China Charges U.S. Violation By Viet Raiders

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Navy planes dumped 45 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese radar and other installations on Bach Long Island Monday to pursue a demolition job started last Friday. Forty-two fighter-bombers and an escort of unannounced strength made the raid.

In the process, they stirred a charge from Radio Peking that eight planes violated Red China's airspace near Hainan Island, 80 miles east of Bach Long. However, though Hainan is a base for MIG interceptors, the raiders sighted no aerial challenge.

Antiaircraft fire dropped a Skyhawk jet into the Gulf of Tonkin. The pilot was reported rescued uninjured.

Radio Hanoi declared two of the planes were shot down and many others were damaged.

Cmdr. Henry P. Glindeman of Couer d'Alene, Idaho, skipper of Airwing 15 on the U.S aircraft carrier Coral Sea, led this 13th attack in the series of raids launched against North Viet Nam Feb. 7.

A 20-year Navy veteran, Glindeman flew directly to Saigon after the strike and reported his primary objective was substantially damaged. He said he could see rising smoke and many secondary fires in the target area.

The primary objective was a half-acre radar installation reported only moderately damaged in a raid last Friday. Also hit were a communications center and several other military targets on the two-square-mile island, which is only 100 miles south of the Communist Chinese mainland. Glindeman said the weather was better this time, permitting a more accurate strike.

Klan Inquiry Decision Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities may decide Tuesday whether to launch a full, formal investigation of the Ku Klux Klan.

Samplings of members' opinions in advance of the committee meeting indicate a majority favors such a step, which President Johnson suggested last week when he announced four Klansmen had been arrested in the Alabama slaying of a Detroit civil rights worker.

Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., told the House Monday that while some congressmen seek an investigation of the Klan, no one demands a probe of the Black Muslims.

If the Klan is to be investigated, he said, "why not some of these other organizations, some of whom are responsible for this strife."

Escape To West

BERLIN (UPI) — An East German family of five fled safely to West Berlin Monday.

85 Cubans Reach U.S. In Small Boat

MIAMI (UPI)—A Cuban exile group Monday disclosed how it used a 24-foot boat to rescue from Communist Cuba 85 anti-Castroites, including the brother and other relatives of former welterweight boxing champion Florentino Fernandez.

The rescue of 36 women, 12 children and 37 men was believed to be the largest from Cuba since Fidel Castro took the island. Five of those rescued were disguised as Cuban militiamen.

The rescue by a group known as the Anti - Communist Civil and Armed Forces Organization (FAYCA) came to light as the exiles were processed at the Cuban refugee center following their arrival here from Key West, Fla.

Among those rescued were a family of 18 and a man who fled the island with his two children, leaving his communist wife there.

Amalio Fernandez, brother of the well-known boxer who left Cuba four years ago, came out with his two children, Pedro 8, and Marisa, 7. Nightclub dancer Virginia Salazar Hernandez the boxer's sister-in-law, also was in the group.

Spacemen Get Wet, Wild N.Y. Welcome

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's new space twins, Virgil I. Grissom and John W. Young, were warmly, wildly and very wetly welcomed by admiring New Yorkers Monday with a Broadway ticker tape parade in miserable weather.

Soaked to the skin at the end of their ride through the rain, the pair spent an hour in a steam bath. Afterwards, Grissom said of the parade crowds "It was wonderful that they came out in weather like this."

City greeter Richard C. Patterson, a veteran of 52 ticker tape parades, said the rain was the worst in his memory. But he added: "The crowds were as thick as I've ever seen them."

However, only about 200 tons of ticker tape fell on lower Manhattan streets — far below the record 3,474 tons showered three years ago on spaceman John H. Glenn Jr.

Grissom took the foul weather in stride. In reference to last Tuesday's two-man Gemini 3 flight that ended in the Atlantic, he pointed out: "We just got a little bit wet recently."

Beneath a dark sea of umbrellas, hundreds of thousands lined lower Broadway as the newest astronaut heroes rode up to City Hall in a steady downpour on a cold, gray spring day.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who also got a good drenching, said on the steps of City Hall:

"We realize the elements have conspired against us, but this minor act of nature has not deterred us from an overwhelming reception. They told me that they never before experienced a more warm and friendly, enthusiastic reception."

Besides receiving golden keys to the city, the astronaut team was honored at a civic reception at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Their wives accompanied them, and Grissom's two sons, Scott, 14, and Mark, 11, also were along. They also visited the United Nations.

Laotian Troops March On Town Held By Rebels

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Two columns of loyalist troops marched toward the border town of Thakhek Monday with a government ultimatum for rebel soldiers there to surrender. The loyalists have orders to open fire if the rebels ignored the orders.

Government planes dropped copies of the ultimatum over the Mekong River town, 160 miles southeast of Vientiane, earlier in the day.

Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma issued a statement warning that "energetic measures" will be taken against the rebel troops. The statement said rebel intentions had not been made known, but it was believed the troops are supporters of ousted Deputy Premier Phoumi Nosavan. Phoumi is in exile in Thailand.

Associated Press stringer Estelle Holt reported from Thakhek the rebel officers were a gay, hard-drinking group but none was too clear as to why they staged their revolt and seized the town Sunday.

One officer said the reason for the uprising was chiefly to bring about some changes in the army.

Phoumi was behind an unsuccessful military uprising in Vientiane early in February that sought to restore his supremacy in the Laotian armed forces.

LBJ Welcomes African Leader

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson Monday welcomed the president of Upper Volta with a parade and a promise to support the right of the newly emerging nations "to live without interference."

President Maurice Yameogo, a leader of a drive to block Red Chinese pentration in Africa, opened a 10-day visit with a parade through the streets of downtown Washington.

In a White House lawn ceremony, Yameogo told Johnson that the four and a half million people of Upper Volta "stand for the things which you stand for."

Once the formalities are over, Yameogo will confer with U.S. officials on the possibilities of a small increase in the $1 million-a-year aid program for Upper Volta. The money is being used to help the West African nation eradicate measles and breed cattle, a staple in the nation's economy.

'Major Earthquake' Near Aleutians

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Charles Richter of the California Institute of Technology said his instruments recorded "a major earthquake," probably in the vicinity of the Aleutian Islands Tuesday night.

Richter said the quake, centered about 3,500 miles from Pasadena, was comparable in magnitude to the one which took a heavy toll in life and property Sunday in Chile.

Union Presents Demands To Basic Steel Industry

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers Union (USW) Monday presented to the basic steel industry its demands for new wage increases and fringe benefits.

The scope of the union's economic demands was not revealed, but industry sources said they appeared to be "more expensive" than the recent USW settlement with the can industry which ended a three - week strike.

Economic concessions won by the union from the can industry were estimated by union sources at about 45.7 cents per man hour over the length of the contract, which runs for 40 months.

"We will be expected to at least match the can settlement and no doubt go beyond," an industry source said.

Union negotiators, led by USW President David J. McDonald, handed the hard-money proposals Monday afternoon to the steel coordinating committee, which bargains as a unit for the "big 11" basic steel producing companies.

Contracts between the USW and the steel, can and aluminum industries generally have been similar, but in past years it was always the steel industry which set the pattern.

The three-year labor contract with basic steel, covering 450,000 USW members, expires April 30.

Industry sources placed the steelworker's average wage rate at $3.40 an hour and fringe benefits at $.97 an hour.

Ruling On Plant Closings Given By High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that an employer may shut down his business completely for any reason but may not close part of it to avoid dealing with a labor union.

In announcing this 7-0 decision, the court did not rule one way or another on whether the Darlington Manufacturing Co. had anti-union motives in closing its mill in Darlington, S. C., after its employes had voted to be represented by the AFL-CIO Textile Workers Union of America.

Darlington's closed plant is one of 26 mills owned and controlled by it and Deering-Milliken Inc. Why it was closed is a matter for the National Labor Relations Board and the United States 4th Circuit Court to resolve, the court said in an opinion written by Justice John M. Harlan.

The Darlington decision was one of three in the area of labor-management relations. In the two others, the court ruled:

That when an impasse is reached in negotiation for a new contract, it is entirely proper for an employer to temporarily lock out employes in an effort to bring economic pressure to bear on the union. The decision was unanimous.

That it is not an unfair labor practice for all members of a multi-employer bargaining group to lock out their employes in response to a whipsaw strike against one member of the group. It was an 8-1 ruling.

The court also took another step in the field of libel.

It struck down, on the narrow ground of improper instructions to the jury, awards for two public officials totaling $40,000 made against Aaron E. Henry, a Negro pharmacist from Clarksdale, Miss., who is active in integration efforts in that state.

And the court refused to rule that sterilization of a California man violated the Constitution's ban on cruel and unusual punishment. The Californian, Miguel Vega andrada, said sterilization had been inflicted as punishment in a misdemeanor case in which he was charged with failure to provide for four children.

After announcing its decisions, the court heard for two hours argument on Connecticut's anti-birth control laws.

Woman Slain In Beauty Shop

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP)—A shooting in a beauty shop Monday left a woman dead and a male hairdresser seriously wounded.

Montgomery County police identified the victim as Patricia Patone Mancuso, 52, of Hyattsville, a part-owner of the La Femme Beauty Shop on Georgia Avenue.

She was shot twice, once in the chest and once in the face. Her body was found behind a counter.

On the floor on the other side of the counter, bleeding from chest wounds, was a man identified by police as Mario Alonso Leyva, 27, also of Hyattsville, the manager-hairdresser of the shop.

Lt. Harold Treadwell, detective chief at the county police station in Silver Spring, said it appeared that the man shot the woman, then turned the weapon on himself. Treadwell said a .38 caliber revolver was found on the floor beside the man.

Use Of Gas In Viet Nam Reported As Ineffective

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Many U.S. military advisers doubt that nonlethal gas can be used effectively against the Communist Viet Cong at the present time.

"It looks just too sophisticated for Viet Nam," one adviser commented.

"The coordination, the intelligence, the aggressiveness required in the use of gas are lacking here so far."

Other advisers interviewed had participated in one way or another in a series of gas experiments and operations since last December.

The military effectiveness of gas lies in attackers' ability to get quickly atop the target. So far, this has been a major problem. Troops have at most about 15 or 20 minutes to move in after gas has been spread—at least with the kinds being used so far. This gives little time for troops to move up and police an area out.

One of the advisers described a gas operation in the Ca Mau peninsula in December:

"The helicopters flew in about midmorning, spraying a tear gas variety over the tangled jungle ceiling. Gas was also dropped in containers that opened on impact.

"The powder from the containers spread out across the marshy terrain. The powder sprayed onto the jungle, settled on the ground.

"Within about six minutes the whole carpet of powder turned into gas, according to spotter aircraft overhead. The jungle roof held it in for 15 to 20 minutes.

"Unfortunately, there was no one there. We had been hoping to find two American prisoners.

"We were late in getting to the gassed region because of the marshy terrain. And our gas masks got wet on the way in. Some of the Vietnamese troops unfortunately got whiffs of the stuff and we had to carry them home."

Other experiments and operations ended similarly, according to participants. Vietnamese infantrymen "just haven't had the gas training that every U.S. soldier gets," an adviser said.

Minimum Wage Bill Clears House

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The House of Delegates approved Monday night the heavily-amended bill setting up a $1 an hour minimum wage for Maryland.

The Senate had already amended the measure to exclude most businesses which had objected to the law, and also had deleted a clause which would have automatically increased the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour in four years.

The House further weakened the bill by excluding all firms with seven or fewer employes. The cut off number had been four.

The bill must now go back to the Senate for consideration of the House amendment.

LBJ Support Urged By HHH

BALTIMORE (AP) — Vice President Humphrey said Monday the Johnson Administration recognizes "that a second car and power mowers and dry martinis are not enough" in a world in turmoil.

Humphrey, in a speech prepared for a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner, called for support of President Johnson's policy in Viet Nam and of his so-called Great Society program.

"This is what the great society is all about," he said. "It is the recognition that we stand for something not seen before in the world."

"We stand for the dignity and fulfillment of individual man and woman. We stand for the chance for each man to make something better of himself. We stand for free speech and government of the people. We stand for peace without conquest.

"We stand for the belief that others, too, in less fortunate places should have opportunity for the blessings of abundance and should be free of tyranny."

Humphrey said Americans must summon the patience to cope with the arduous task of keeping South Viet Nam from falling into the hands of the Communists.

Humphrey pressed also for support of the administration's education measure, passed last week by the House.

FTC Planning Hazard Label On Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) said Monday that it plans to label cigarettes a health hazard whether Congress backs it up or not.

Chairman Paul Rand Dixon told the Senate Commerce Committee that he feels the agency has the power to take the step under existing rules.

The only way it could be blocked, Dixon said, would be by specific congressional legislation barring the agency action.

The committee is considering two bills to require health warning labels on cigarette packages.

One would require a warning statement to be included in cigarette advertising. The other would provide for a warning on the package itself.

Dixon, however, said he felt the FTC could, under present legislation, act in both cases without new legislation.

Dixon's declaration that the FTC would take unilateral action if need be, brought a heated reply from Sen. Ross Bass, D-Tenn.

"You are aware that Congress is studying this field and if Congress fails to pass legislation it would appear to me this would be a mandate to the FTC to take no further action," Bass said.

Today an estimated half-million Tuaregs roam the mountains and plains of the central and southern Sahara, ignoring frontiers. They are divided into five proud clans, speak their own language and accept the tenets of Islam.

Pontiff Prods Vatican Birth Control Group

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has told a Vatican birth control commission to conclude its work urgently and courageously, without leaving Roman Catholics "exposed to uncertainties."

His remarks — published in a Vatican announcement that broke the secrecy surrounding the work of the commission — appeared to be an exhortation to its members to overcome reported divisions concerning use of the new contraceptive pills.

The Pope's speech and the first Vatican communique on the commission's work since it was established about eight months ago made clear that its work went beyond the pills to encompass all population growth problems. But use of the pills was clearly a key issue.

Until Monday, the Vatican press office and newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano, had not mentioned the commission. Its work was conducted in secret. Its members have never been publicly named. But the communique disclosed that an American, Archbishop Leo Binz of St. Paul, Minn., had presided over its meetings and that a Belgian, the Rev. Henry De Riedmatte, was its secretary-general.

Pope Paul addressed the group Saturday.

His words came with reports the commission might not be able to agree on a recommendation on the birth control pills. The Pope had set up the commission in June during debates among Catholics about using the pills.

Birth Control Study Plan Approved Over Protests

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A Legislative Council study of whether the Maryland Board of Public Welfare should be stripped of its authority to offer birth control information to mothers not living with a husband was approved Monday.

The Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee approved the study over the protests of chairman Alvin Thalheimer and Howard H. Murphy.

The bill referred to the Council by Sen. Joseph J. Curran, D-Balto 3rd, questions whether it is the prerogative of the legislative or a state agency to adopt a policy on child spacing.

Curran also protested that he had not expected or was prepared for a hearing before the legislative committee Monday.

"I had announced my purpose of introducing the bill was to have it referred to the Legislative Council where both sides could be heard," he said. "I never dreamed there would be a hearing here."

While admitting that Archbishop Lawrence Cardinal Shehan of Baltimore wanted to be heard, Curran said it was not just a matter of Catholic concern. "There are others—Protestant and Jewish—who want to be heard," Curran said.

Murphy said the Board of Welfare opposed a council hearing because "we would like to keep it from being a controversial political matter."

No Marylanders In License Racket

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP)—A high-ranking State Police official said Monday no Marylanders were involved in the sale of hundreds of phony Maryland chauffeur licenses reported during the weekend by Indiana authorities.

Capt. T. S. Smith, head of the state police investigative division, said the bogus licenses apparently were photo-copies of a valid license lost by a trucker in Chicago, and all bore the same serial number. He said the copying was done in the Midwest.

The investigation of the illegal sales was disclosed by Henry Kowalczyk, prosecutor for the Lake County, Ind. service station.

Ed Burke of the Indiana State Police said Coulson was believed to be a major distributor of the licenses, which sold for $5 to $16. Burke said at least four others were involved.

Maryland State Police joined the investigation, Smith said, after the Department of Motor Vehicles reported it had been flooded with revocations of the phony licenses.

Smith said the licenses were returned to Maryland by police who had received them from truck drivers as collateral. In some states, he said, truckers may use their licenses for collateral instead of money.

"The truckers weren't worried about them and never picked them up from police," Smith said. When the phony licenses were never reclaimed, he said, police would return them to the Department of Motor Vehicles in Glen Burnie, Md.

Smith said some of the truckers had used the fraudulent licenses because their valid ones had been revoked for some reason, while others obtained them specifically to use as collateral.

He said bogus licenses had been sent to Maryland motor vehicle officials from Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New Jersey as well as Indiana.

Smith's division has circulated posters throughout the Midwest calling attention to the fraudulent licenses.

An investigator froom his unit has been in Gary for more than a week working with police there, and took part in the raid on Coulson's service station.

Court Appoints Veney Attorney

BALTIMORE (AP)—A court-appointed attorney was named Monday to defend Samuel and Earl Veney, brothers charged in the slaying of one policeman and in the wounding of another.

The Veneys, the only brother team ever listed among the FBI's "10 most wanted fugitives," were arrested at work in a Long Island, N. Y. zipper factory 2½ weeks ago.

Samuel, 26, and Earl, 32, appeared for arraignment in Baltimore Criminal Court Monday, but Judge Dulaney Foster postponed arraignment until their lawyer can confer with them.

Judge Foster appointed John R. Hargrove, a former deputy U. S. attorney for Maryland, as "senior counsel" for the Veneys. The judge said an assistant counsel would be named later.

Charles E. Moylan Jr., state's attorney for Baltimore, said he would confer with Hargrove to scheduled an arraignment hearing for the Veneys at which they would enter formal pleas. The trial date would be set afterward.

Bill For Works Unit Secretary Signed

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Tawes signed a bill Monday creating a full-time secretary for the Board of Public Works, the state's highest administrative agency.

The bill was prompted by a conflict between Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein and Andrew Heubeck Jr., a member of the comptroller's staff who has been acting as secretary for the board.

At a board meeting March 1, Goldstein angrily accused Heubeck of "working against me."

What To Look For When Choosing A New Hat

What kind of hats should the statuesque woman wear? The heavy woman's dress problems can be solved easily enough these days in the woman's and half-sized departments, where she will find just what she needs designed and cut to fit and enhance her figure.

But when she enters most millinery departments she must rely entirely on her own judgment to find a hat that will slenderize her face and figure.

Out of sheer desperation, she is apt to settle for some outmoded fashion, just because she has worn the style successfully in other seasons, and the probabilities are that it will make her look as old and passe as the hat.

Right now, you can prevent that ever happening again. Every new millinery collection contains plenty of hats that meet your special requirements in fashionable fashion. If you learn the following do's and don'ts you will be able to point your finger at one immediately. Year in and year out, here are the basics your type of hat must avoid and those it must have.

Always avoid the following:

1. Round lines in brims and crowns (as in a breton): Such lines only repeat and accentuate curved facial and body lines.

2. Brims that mushroom downward all the way around (as in a cloche): These make your neck and body seem shorter, and thus fail to be the slimming flattering influence you want.

3. Round, dainty or squatty trims such as rosettes, cockades, loops and insignificant flower clusters. Not only for the reason given in No. 1, but more important, because they simply are not impressive enough to do your type of elegance justice.

Always stick to:

1. Diagonal lines (as in the profile shapes so fashionable right now): The brim that cuts across your face in a long diagonal, foils the roundness of both your face and figure.

2. Asymmetrically placed trims such as wings and the wired ribbon being shown currently. Medium-sized, side or slant-placed trims at a second long line that subtly adds to your height.

3. Veiling: Hides many a telltale line.

4. Proportioned size: Be sure your hat is as wide as your hair-do and that your hair-do is softly close to your head.

MASTERFUL USE OF COLOR emphasizes the most intriguing aspects of your appearance and personality. To reap the rewards of the proper use of color in your wardrobe and make-up, send for John Robert Powers' booklet, "Your Color Type." Prevailing Wage Bill Is Signed ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Stricter enforcement of the state's limited law on payment of prevailing wages by roads contractors was signed Monday by Gov. Tawes.

It applies only in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

A commission determines the prevailing wages in the area and builders with a contract with the state roads commission are required to pay it.

New procedure requires posting of the wages on the site of construction, the contractor to supply information on wages and hours on request of employes.

The State Roads Commission also will be required to include the predetermined wages in its specifications asking bids on a contract.

The legislation is provided in Senate Bill 249, sponsored by Senator George R. Hughes Jr.

GOP Voting Bill Enacted

The General Assembly has adopted a bill which will allow otherwise qualified persons residing in Maryland at least 45 days before a Presidential election to vote in the election.

The bill adopted by the Senate Thursday was introduced as House Bill 142 by Republican members of the House of Delegates.

The Senate passed Senate Bill 316 which would authorize local taxes on beer except in Allegany County.

It enacted Senate Bill 349, by Senator George R. Hughes Jr., which requires inclusion of prevailing wage rates in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties.

Senator Hughes was co-sponsor of SB 391, enacted by the House, which relieves a member of shareholder of a joint stock company of liability for a money judgement against the association.

Internal Injuries Blamed In Death Of WVU Student

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) —A West Virginia University student died suddenly of apparent internal injuries Sunday after coming through a three-car wreck with no obvious injuries.

Harrison County Sheriff Rex Baumgardner said Frank Cole, 19, of Berkeley Springs, collapsed and died at a hospital after helping other persons injured in the collision and accompanying one of them to the hospital in an ambulance.

Bamgardner said Cole and two companions had visited a tavern south of here and were returning to Morgantown when the accident occurred about 12:50 a.m. Sunday on W. Va. 50 at Nutter Fort.

Joyce Zornig Cited By City

The Mayor and Council yesterday adopted a resolution of regret in the departure of Joyce Zornig, who is leaving the Queen City to make her home in New Haven, Conn.

The resolution cited Mrs. Zornig, who has served as a soloist in various recitals for several years, for her contribution to the cultural life of the community.

City Firemen Get Two Calls

Firemen at Central station had two calls last night.

About 7:10 p.m. they went to the Singer Sewing Center on Baltimore Street. They checked the premises but found no fire.

In the other call, several of the firemen walked to the G&W Tavern, 28 Bedford Street, after receiving a call that heavy smoke was seen in the vicinity. They found no fire.

House Kills

tighten up this practice.

Sees Problem

It was apparent from the roll-call, that while Gov. Tawes favored the sticker bill, he realized its difficulty in the House and did not make an all-out push for it. It had passed the Senate 16-12, by only one vote more than necessary, and then after the administration had pressed for reconsideration of an earlier failure.

Of the key administration leaders in the House, only Speaker Marvin Mandel, D-Balto. 5th, voted for it. Majority Floor Leader W. Dale Hess, D-Harford, and Judiciary chairman Thomas Hunter Lowe, D-Talbot, voted against it. Ways and Means Chairman Roy N. Staten, D-Balto County, did not vote.

Sodality To Meet

MT. SAVAGE—The Sodality of St. Patrick's Church will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m. according to Mrs. Joan Roach, president.

Water Survey Is Asked By Citizens Group

The importance of a water supply for both residents of the area and the expansion of industry came in for discussion at yesterday' meeting of the Mayor and Council.

The discussion was triggered by a recommendation from the Mayor's Citizens Advisory Committee that a study be undertaken, in cooperation with the Allegany County Commissioners, to determine the present and future sufficiency of water supply for industry and citizens.

Harry Kauffman, chairman of the committee, wrote that the advisory unit feels major efforts may be necessary in the near future to augment the existing supply in order to allay the fears of industry. Such a study, the letter stated, would lay the groundwork for future growth of industry.

Commenting on the recommendation, Water Commissioner G. Ray Light stressed that the present supply is sufficient for both industry and individual use, but pointed out that the continuing growth of the area supports the request for a study of potential water sources.

Mr. Light further stated that he felt participation of the county was an obligation for any expansion of the city's water supply, and said that a possible site for a new supply exists in the same general area as the city's two large impoundments.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan commented that the water now flowing over the spillways of the two dams is "water that is needed in July and August."

Mayor Earl D. Chaney said the city faces a possible problem in the growth of the area along old Bedford Road and said should the growth continue at its present pace the contamination of the city water supply is a likelihood. This brought forth a reply from Commissioner Light that "there is no contamination of the water, and the people should not be led to believe that they are not getting pure water."

The request of the Mayor's Citizens Advisory Committee was referred to the individual members for study and possible action at next Monday's meeting.

In a report to the Mayor and Council yesterday, water in Lake Koon was reported two inches over the crest of the dam, while Lake Gordon's level was placed at three inches above the crest.

Last year, the report noted, the level was three-quarters of an inch over Lake Gordon's dam, and a quarter-inch over at Lake Koon.

Kiwanis Club To Hear U. Of Md. Professor

George F. Batka, an associate professor in the Speech and Drama Department at the University of Maryland, will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club Thursday at noon at Central YMCA.

Mr. Batka, who teaches radio, television and public speaking, has been on the faculty at College Park since September 1948.

Change In Zoning Lines Recommended By Board

The Mayor and Council yesterday referred to the Planning and Zoning Commission a report by the Board of Zoning Appeals that a change be made in the boundary lines separating a C-1 zone from a C-2 zone in a section between North Mechanic and North Centre streets.

The report, signed by James C. Gardner and Sidney H. Storer Sr., was made on request of James E. Hare who wishes to use a portion of land bordered by the two streets, Hampton Place and Pear Street for a used car operation.

The board members explained that the two zones are covered by the area in question and that such an operation (used cars) is not permitted in a C-1 zone. The report pointed out that Mr. Hare twice has been required to move because of work on the Cumberland Thruway.

Council also received a report from the Planning and Zoning Commission, signed by James A. Avirett, acting chairman, regarding the purchase by Charles Paul Roeder of property fronting on Bedford and Centre streets.

The commission recommended that the Mayor and Council notify Mr. Roeder that plans for a building on the plot should reflect a sufficient setback to comply with future plans for widening Bedford Street in accordance with Urban Renewal plans.

Council also approved a recommendation by the Planning and Zoning unit that an agreement be negotiated with the planning firm of Simonds and Simonds to update the city's comprehensive plan in accordance with requirements of Cumberland's workable program. The work will cost $900.

Approved by council was a request by R. H. Lapp and Sons for permission to install a 1,000-gallon gasoline tank underground at 900 Industrial Boulevard. In separate action, council authorized a refund of $70 to the Lapp firm, the amount representing an overcharge for a building permit at that location.

The city comptroller was authorized to issue a check for $929.39 to the Cumberland Contracting Company, the final payment on installation of a water main from the McNamee Hill water tower to the Naval Armory on McKaigs Hill. Total cost of the project was $92,938.87.

Cub Scout Pack Hears Student

Cub Scout Pack 11, sponsored by Parkside School PTA, held its monthly meeting recently and heard a talk on South America by Herman Gomez, a native of Columbia, who is a sophomore at Allegany High School.

The theme for March was "South of the Border" and several skits were presented in addition to the talk by the Gomez youth.

The pack also reviewed the projects it conducted the first three months of the year. These included a handicraft display during Boy Scout Week and the annual Blue and Gold banquet which was attended by approximately 200 parents and scouts.

Bel Air Lights Vote Today

Residents of the Bel Air Development near Triple Lakes along McMullen Highway will decide whether they want street lights in an election today.

Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, was authorized March 16 by the County Board of Commissioners to conduct the all-day election in compliance with House Bill 254 which was recently passed by the Maryland General Assembly and signed by Governor Tawes.

The election will be held from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. in the basement of the residence of John Chapman who lives at 145 North Bel Air Drive. A voting machine of the Election Board will be used in the election.

Mr. Mullaney explained that eligible voters will include those residents who are of legal voting age and own property or reside in the Bel Air Development.

The emergency measure recently signed by the governor created the Bel Air Special Tax Area.

Those citizens of the Bel Air Development who are named in the bill include Erwin H. Elbrecht, who is chairman of the Citizens Committee, Jerome T. Ruszkowski, and Robert E. Hetzel who will serve until the second Monday in January next year.

Group Protests Closing Of Woodside Ave.

A delegation of residents of Woodside Avenue appeared before the Mayor and Council yesterday to protest the closing of the street where it intersects Ernily Street, spokesmen pointing out that it has created a dangerous situation and a hardship to drivers who live along the street.

Paul E. Ritter, 306 Woodside Avenue, asked why the closure was done with no notification to residents and inquired as to how long the condition will exist. He explained that the street is narrow and poses a problem to drivers who must back out to Broadway in order to drive to work or shop.

Mrs. Ruth Cessna, 508 Woodside Avenue, informed council most women drivers on the street were "grounded" because of lack of a guardrail where the street now ends on a sharp drop. Turning a car around on the street is practically an impossibility, she added.

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum informed the Mayor and Council that the work was tied in with the Cumberland Thruway project and added it is the intention of the State Roads Commission to provide an exit by the extension of Cecelia Street as soon as feasible.

Group Meets Today

The Allegany County Youth Commission will meet today at 8 p. m. in the fellowship room of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Washington and Smallwood streets. Donald Perrin, executive director of the Hagerstown Family Service Agency, will be speaker.

Air is one-fifth oxygen.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

Maryland Day, 1965 marked the 331st anniversary of the founding of the colony that has become one of the great states of the Union. In Washington we celebrated Maryland Day with an Open House Reception on March 25, in the House Office Building. A great many of our fellow citizens from the Sixth Congressional District were here to help us celebrate. The Little Singers of Montgomery County — a group of students representing 60 schools in the county delighted our guests with a wonderful concert of songs of many nations which they sing in the native language of the country.

Our Maryland Day anniversaries on Capitol Hill have always featured some event of particular significance in Maryland history. This year we used the occasion to begin the bicentennial commemoration of the event which led to the American Revolution. Two centuries ago our ancestors marked the principles of freedom and liberty which characterized the American Revolution. A full eight years before the historic Boston Tea Party, there were other events which are now a part of the legend of America.

You will all recall that a tax to be raised by stamps required for legal documents was imposed on the American Colonies by the British Parliament in 1764. As most taxes are, the stamp tax was unpopular but in addition it raised constitutional questions of "taxation without representation", and the extent of the legislative powers of the Parliament at Westminster over the colonies of British America. Discontent was expressed through the organization of the "Sons of Liberty" and the adoption of resolutions of protest.

In Maryland the reaction to the Stamp Act was rational, forceful and highly significant. The greatest patriot interest in the colony was expressed in Frederick County, the Mother County of Western Maryland, whose boundaries then were just about the boundaries of the Sixth Congressional District today.

The twelve judges of Frederick County rendered an opinion that the court should proceed with its business without the controversial reveune stamps and it so ordered its Clerk. This action was approved by the people of Maryland of that day, and the court was deemed to have declared the Stamp Act unconstitutional. This truly was one of the important preambles of the American Revolution. It is an act that we should remember in 1965 for even more important than the fact that is set the stage for revolution was the fact that these judges illustrated the power and importance of an independent and courageous judiciary. Although the court adopted a lawyers' pretect for its action, there is no doubt from contemporary reaction and from all the surrounding circumstances that these judges fully understood and appreciated the importance of their decision in repudiating the Stamp Act. The Maryland historian James McSherry is right in saying that the court labeled it unconstitutional and not worthy of obediance.

Thus we find jurists in America, even before the foundation of the Republic, who had the courage to be independent of the power that elevated them to the Court, a remote tribunal in a distant Province, placed so great an importance on liberty that it struck down the decree of an Imperial Parliament and re-inforced the power of the courts to protect the rights of the people even against its own rulers.

I have introduced a Resolution in the Congress calling upon the President of the United States to proclaim November 23, 1965 as Repudiation Day in recognition of the great significance of the action of the Frederick County Court and to bear witness to the importance that we still place upon a Judiciary that has the courage to be independent and the wisdom and strength to portect the liberties of the people against every sort of tyranny.

After the court of honor, a movie of the troop's visit to the New York World's Fair was shown.

Ann Landers . . . Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It's old news now, but an unresolved question still keeps me awake nights. I hope you will not conside my letter too "stale" to print but I'm sure many other readers (along with me) would like to know your views on the Air Force Academy scandal.

Our nephew was one of the 105 cadets who resigned as a result of honor code violations. His parents are crushed. The boy is holding up stoically. The only information he will give us is that he was not directly involved in the buying or selling of the exams. He did know of the cheating, but he refused to turn in his buddies, which according to the code of the Air Force Academy, makes him equally guilty.

This fine young man has been taught since childhood not to tattle. And now this virtue has been twisted around to appear dishonorable. It has brought him and dozens of other young men and their families disgrace and anguish.

If we are too close to the situation to see it clearly, please tell us. What is your opinion?—GRIEVED AUNT

DEAR AUNT: Your letter suggests you do not have all the facts straight. First reports from the Academy indicated that among the 105 cadets who resigned there were a number who were not directly involved in the cheating. They knew who the cheaters were, however, according to these accounts, and refused to turn them in. Under strict application of the honor code this lapse made them equally guilty.

Later, officials of the Academy announced that every man who resigned was guilty of selling, buying or using the exams (in other words, they were directly involved). The officials went on to say that those men who had guilty knowledge but were NOT directly involved were still at the Academy and that their cases were still unresolved.

Still later, Major John W. Keeler, information officer of the Academy, announced that four more cadets met with the honor committee and accepted the committee's recommendation that they resign. These four were NOT directly involved but they refused to turn in those who were.

I must assume that the Academy has evidence to support these statements. Surely the administration of the Air Academy could not — and would not — lie.

In point of fact, the honor code of the Academy does not distinguish between the directly guilty and the man who refuses to fink on a friend. And I believe the code should be rewritten.

I am opposed to a Gestapo philosophy in a free society. If our military elite countenances (and encourages) informers, something is wrong either with the values we teach our children, or the values of the military.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am dying of embarrassment and need some advice. I have been going with a terribly sweet guy. He works in a shop down the street from my father's theater where I am a cashier.

Nick is from a town about 70 miles from here. He goes home every other Sunday and takes his laundry because he says his mother really enjoys doing it.

This morning I received a note from his mother. It read: "Dear Miss Smith: The lipstick you are using is indelible. You are ruining my son's shirts. I would appreciate it if you would change to a lipstick that will wash out. Thank you.—MRS. BROWN"

Should I reply to this note? Remember, this woman might probably be my mother-in-law one day.—A SHIRT-WRECKER

DEAR SHIRT-WRECKER: Get rid of your present brand of lipstick and switch to one that will wash out.

Drop Nick's mother a note thanking her for letting you know and inform her of the change.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI)—All the ticks aren't in clocks.

Charles Pomerantz once found 40 ticks in a copy of "Gone With the Wind."

That's not too unusual when you consider that his first true love was termites. The ticks he found in the novel were the insect type.

A garment manufacturer turned pest control operator, Pomerantz recently had a species of flea—stivalius pomerantzi—named after him. He also was honored once by having an entire family of mites tagged with his name. They're called pomerantzi charlesi.

But that's just the beginning of insects bearing his name. The euschongasia pomerantzi species of chigger was named after him. Ditto for a crane fly that now goes by the moniker shanonomyia pomerantzi.

As head of Bell Exterminating Co., a subsidiary of National Cleaning Contractors, Inc., Pomerantz probably is the most bugged man in New York.

He prefers to be known as a crusader against the tick.

Right now he's involved in trying to cure a brown dog tick problem in New York.

He said certain ticks also cause Rocky Mountain spotted fever, tick paralysis and tularemia.

Pomerantz figures some 400,000 New York dogs are tick carriers. The dogs are in rich and poor families.

"But there are probably more ticks on Park Avenue than anywhere else in Manhattan," he said.

The bug expert, who quit school after the eighth grade, has lectured about the brown dog ticks at Harvard, Fordham, Purdue, New York University—and scores of other medical centers and universities.

"When I finished my lecture at the Harvard School of Public Health," he said, "a professor of medicine walked up and congratulated me, asking where I received my scientific training.

"I told him I received it at P.S. 20 on New York's lower East Side."

Pomerantz also has made extensive studies of insect phobias. On occasion, he's called to help persons who suffer from the delusion that they are being attacked by bugs.

He does this by proving to them that no bugs are crawling about their homes.

First of course, he checks to make sure.

4-H Citizenship Tour Saturday In Carroll Co.

About 30 members of 4-H Clubs of Allegany County have indicated they plan to participate in the Maryland 4-H citizenship tour on Saturday in Carroll County.

During the tour they will see a highly automated modern milk condensing plant and a complete slaughter to retail customer meet and meat product enterprise.

Other points of interest will be Terra Rubra, the birthplace of Franis Scott Key and Western Maryland College.

A bus transporting the youths to Carroll County will leave from the Court House at 7 a.m. and the bus will leave Westminster for the return trip about 4 p.m.

The county agent at Carroll County has notified Charles Babich, Allegany County extension agent, 4-H and youth, that a social hour will begin about 3 p.m.

Love Affair

Remember our Janie? The picture at the left is how she looked when we first met her. Our love affair with Janie is well known. We've documented it in a number of Janie ads. We've also got a love affair going with most of the other little girls—and big girls—in America. A real love affair—with 95,000,000 American women, the best dressed women in the world.

There's a good reason for this. Our skilled hands make most of the clothing American women wear. Name it, we make it: suits, dresses, coats, blouses, skirts, rainwear, slacks, sweaters, neckwear, lingerie, sportswear, sleepwear—even diapers and bikinis. The varieties, a modern miracle of the great American garment industry, are designed to fit American women of every size, shape and income.

We, the 450,000 members of the ILGWU, are proud of the work we do which translates design into reality. We are proud of our union—the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union—through which we've won security, fair wages, the dignity of a voice in our own conditions of employment and a position of respect in our communities. Look for the ILGWU label in women's and girls' apparel. It's our signature; and it's your guarantee that the clothing you buy is made by skilled craftsmen in a shop reflecting the best American standards and traditions.

Let's Not Don Sackcloth Again

Oops! Shades of Gary Powers and his U-2. It's public confession time again. Yes, the United States admits its allies have been using "benevolent incapacitators"—that's gas, man—in the fighting in South Viet Nam.

Not only does the Pentagon confess to the practice, but Secretary of Defense McNamara admits to having done a little GS sniffing (GS is one of the three gasses being used) and reports tears but no permanent injury.

But in spite of the military's frankness and its testimonials to the gasses' safety, in the public mind it is hard to separate tear gas and its like from the toxic preparations that caused such misery in World War I.

The result is regrettable, but not because there is anything more immoral about the use of non-lethal gas than the use of any other weapon. What is regrettable is that at a time when the United States needs all the support it can get for a right but lonely position in South Viet Nam it has admitted trying to keep a cloak of secrecy on a military tactic the knowledge of which could frustrate the very support it seeks.

The hope now is that the Pentagon from Mr. McNamara on down will say not another word about the matter. There must not be another public confessional like there was after Powers' U-2 was shot down over Russia.

These Days

Dean Burch Bows Out

When Dean Burch entered the big-time political picture in January of 1964 as Barry Goldwater's secretary in charge of scheduling, he was a casual, small-city lawyer from Tucson, Ariz. But that was a long time ago as politics is reckoned. Now that Burch is about to turn over the office of chairman of the Republican National Committee to Ray Bliss of Ohio, he impresses one as a mature combination of political philosopher and operator, a person who has gained inestimably in stature because of the dignified way in which he has conducted himself since he was made to walk the plank for the supposed crime of "symbolizing" Goldwaterism.

A lesser man would have sulked and gone about complaining of the injustice involved in being made a sacrificial goat. Instead of doing this, Dean Burch has used his last days as Republican national chairman to make it as easy as possible for his successor to take over the helm of a united party. Ray Bliss, it has been said, is a technician who does not recognize ideologies save when they pose "problems." And Burch, as a man who was well on his way toward becoming a first-rate technician himself, has tried to leave Bliss with an absolute minimum of problems on the docket.

The Burch speeches and magazine articles of the past three months have de-emphasized any ideology that might be interpreted as "extreme." In his speech in Baton Rouge, La., Burch rejected what he called the "slander" that the Goldwater victory in the states of the Deep South was a "one-shot" affair, dependent on racist passions for the scope of its success. Whether this analysis of the 1964 Republican victory in states like Alabama and Mississippi is good or bad won't be known until a few more elections have been held. But the important point is that Dean Burch hopes to build a permanent Republicanism in the South on a broad base of opposition to "centralist extremism" that will not preclude local respect for the right to vote as guaranteed by the Fifteenth Amendment. In taking this line in Baton Rouge Dean Burch was being as "undivisive" as possible, the better for Ray Bliss's hopes of surmounting problems on both sides of the Mason-Dixon line.

The "non-divisive" Burch has been uppermost in speeches and interviews recognizing that the "leadership of the Republican renaissance will be diversified." He hopes that "prefix Republicanism" is on its way out. He has praised Barry Goldwater, Everett Dirksen, George Romney, Charles Percy, and Robert Taft Jr. with fine impartiality.

None of this would make Burch an exciting candidate on his own. But it does prove the honesty of the man in his role as chairman of the technical aid committee that belongs to all Republicans, whether of the Rockefeller Left or the Goldwater Right. If he had been permitted to continue as chairman, he would have given as fair a technician's performance as is expected from Ray Bliss, who has always dealt with "problems" on a pragmatic basis.

But if Dean Burch would have behaved as an honest broker had he been allowed to carry on in Washington headquarters, it doesn't mean he will be an "anything goes" candidate when as seems likely, he chooses to stand for an elective office in his home state of Arizona. Burch believes that the U.S. electorate as a whole is conservative, and cites a number of polls to show that from 74 to 90 percent of the people are for the "Republican positions . . . on prosecuting the war in Vietnam, on school bussing, on reapportionment and trimming the powers of the Supreme Court, on prayers in the schools." He thinks the 1964 vote went for Lyndon Johnson partly because everybody was so prosperous and partly because of the propaganda that Barry Goldwater might make a rash President. If Dean Burch should run for Congress or for Governor of Arizona, it would be as a non-rash conservative with principles of his own. Since Burch is not by temperament "merely a technician," fate probably did him a good turn when it pried him loose from the "purely technical" job of running the Republican National Committee.

'Imagine—Those Barbarians Using Gas'

NLRB Deprives Workers Of Secret Ballot

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The National Labor Relations Board recently announced that, although the signing of cards by workers authorizing a union to represent them as collective-bargaining agent is legal, an employer "who believes that cards do not reflect the true choice of his employes" can get an election in which a secret ballot would be cast. But in a case just decided by the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, the labor board was, in effect, rebuked for having intervened even when both sides had agreed upon a secret as bargaining agent on the basis of signed cards.

The labor board had ruled that the cards, disturbed among the employes, were sufficient evidence of authorization despite the fact that there was considerable dispute as to whether the cards had been legally signed by a majority of the employes.

The opinion of the court draws attention to the nature of the card that was distributed by the union. It contained a section designating the union as collective-bargaining agent, but at the bottom of the card there was a specific statement that the card was for use in support of a demand either for recognition from the company or "for an NLRB election." The employer said he did not believe that the union represented a majority of the company's employes and declined recognition until such time as it was certified by the National Labor Relations Board. The court opinion says:

"This was followed by a consent agreement signed by the respondent 'company' and the charging union agreeing to two elections, one to be held with respect to each of the separate employing units.

"Then, however, two days before the date set for the election the charging union filed its unfair labor charges with the board based on the refusal of the respondent to recognize its bargaining status without an election. This, of course, aborted the election."

The court pointed out that the board nevertheless had decided that the cards, which had been signed by a majority of the employes, designated the union as bargaining agent. Testimony was presented that some had been signed under a misunderstanding as to the purpose of the card. One had been signed without the worker ever having seen it, since it was received by mail at his home and signed by his wife. Other employes understood that, by signing the card, they were merely seeking to obtain a secret-ballot election. The court said:

"We think that in refusing to consider the subjective intent of the signer of the card, in light of the ambiguity on the face of the card, the board erred. . . .

"It would be very simple for the union to prepare a card that in an unambiguous form would authorize union representation as a bargaining agent. If the union also wished to have cards signed to call an election this would also be a very simple matter. There can be little excuse for combining the two in a card that makes possible the misrepresentation that the board found to have existed in the case of McElveen, and the misunderstanding that the examiner found as to three other employes and which we now find as to four employes."

All this contradicts the statement recently issued in behalf of the National Labor Relations Board to the press, declaring that any employer could have a secret-ballot election provided he didn't commit an "unfair labor practice" prior to the holding of such an election.

The labor board has been contending that the only occasion when it denies a secret-ballot election is when there has been some interference or undue influence upon the employes by the employer. Yet, in another case in May 1964, the board held that the union need not participate in a second election, even when it had lost the first one, but could demand that it be certified as bargaining agent on the basis of cards signed before the election. All that was necessary was for the board to find that there had been some kind of "unfair labor practice" committed prior to the election, and this then permitted the union-card distribution to be accepted.

The record shows that the labor practice" committed prior to the election, and this then permitted the union-card distribution to be accepted.

The record shows that the labor board's rulings have favored union-card elections. This denies the secret ballot to American citizens even though their jobs may be at stake. For in many states, unless an employe is willing to join a union, he is deprived of his job. That's how "civil rights" are manipulated by tricky methods in many parts of the country and given sanction by a federal government board. None of the "liberals" has thus far suggested that "federal registrars" be appointed to supervise these "union-card" elections.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

STRINGENT RULES — President Johnson has quietly laid down some stringent rules for members of his White House staff in an effort to insulate himself from criticism. Johnson has warned them that he will demand their resignation if they make contact with any cabinet or agency official in any private matter or on behalf of any private individual. He has also established a $25 maximum value on any gift they may accept.

In addition, for the first time in peacetime, every White House worker has been subjected to a complete FBI investigation. This includes not only those who exercise official authority; it covers everyone from secretaries to maids. As a means of checking on whether his orders are being obeyed, Johnson has asked every Cabinet officer and agency head to report directly to him if any White House staffer contacts them on a private matter.

These unusual procedures stem directly from the extreme embarrassment to Johnson and his administration that came from morals disclosures concerning Walter Jenkins, his former top aide, and ethical disclosures concerning former Senate majority secretary Bobby Baker.

While these disclosures had no discernible effect on the outcome of Johnson's election, he's trying to make certain that there will be no repeat that could be harmful to him in 1968.

While it wasn't intended to do so, the Johnson order has helped lift morale among the White House staff. They've been laboring under some guilt-by-association feeling stemming from the Jenkins and Baker cases. Having been investigated and cleared, and admonished to stay within rules that keep them that way, they feel less defensive about the barbed criticisms of reporters and political foes.

Spastic Colitis Is A Nervous Phenomenon

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Spastic colitis is common condition and a week rarely passes in the life of a busy physician without encountering one or more patients with this disorder. It is a nervous phenomenon producing intestinal spasms.

Abdominal soreness, gas pains, and cramping are the most troublesome manifestations.

In some instances, bouts of distress are associated with diarrhea; in others, there is constipation. Now and then the pain is so sharp the victim holds the abdomen and bends forward trying to obtain relief.

Cramping may occur only during a trying situation, a period of anxiety, or sustained tension. Other patients never are comfortable and remain aware that all is not well within the tummy.

Symptoms are far from imaginary, as they are caused by a forceful contraction of the muscular wall of the colon. This occasionally can be demonstrated via an X-ray, provided the muscle is in a state of spasm when the film is made.

Knowing the cause helps to control the disturbance. In some, assurance that nothing serious exists is enough to relax the sufferer and his bowel. The solution is easy when the source of trouble is obvious. A Chicago surgeon closes his office and leaves the city to paint and relax when he begins to develop abdominal pain. This is the signal that he is working to hard and is tense and tired. The cause may be a social or economic crisis, fear of disease, lack of security, or problems with a spouse or child. Irregular eating habits, laxative abuses, and too much coffee, alcohol, or cokes may play a role.

There are several medicines that are useful in calming the individual and relaxing the bowel. A combination of belladonna and phenobarbital is time-honored. Tranquilizers also are useful. Drugs that divorce the bowel from the brain are most successful in relaxing spasm. There are dozens of these on the market and the majority are prescription products. A bland diet gives the bowel a rest.

OTHER USES OF INSULIN

Mrs. N. writes: Is insulin given for anything besides diabetes?

REPLY

Yes—to stimulate appetite and to produce shock in certain mental conditions.

CLANKING NECK

Mrs. E. C. writes: For the last year, whenever I shake my head up, down, or sideways, I hear a metallic click. This doesn't pain me but I am annoyed by the mysterious sound. Did you ever hear of such a condition?

REPLY

This sound comes from clicking vertebras or scarred muscle and fibrous tissue in the neck. Arthritis or injury to the structures in this area is responsible. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on neck exercises.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

At Schwab's Drug Store on Sunset Boulevard a father at the refreshment counter waxed wroth at his gangling young son. "You're nothing but a bum," declared the father. "Oh yeah?" retorted the son. "Who is it brings home the unemployment checks?"

At a fashionable kindergarten school off Park Avenue a teacher asked, "What would you do if you were lost?" One boy piped up, "I'd look for a policeman," but a girl sitting next to him had a different idea. "I'd just call a taxi," she declared complacently.

Charles Rice, an admittedly shifty operator, suggests one more way of separating a trusting friend from some of his hard-earned shekels:

Bet him that you can prove that there was one day in American history when nary a soul was born or died. Actually there were ELEVEN such days: September 3 to 13, 1752. It marked the adoption of the Gregorian calendar. By decree the day after September 2 would be designated September 14, there-by leaving a void of eleven days in our American heritage.

Tax Returns Are Open To A Host Of Sleuths For Federal Agencies

By Jack Anderson

(Editors Note: While Drew Pearson is traveling in Europe, the column is written by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — The nation's harassed taxpayers, making their painful computations in the rush to beat the tax deadline, have the mistaken impression that their returns are inviolate.

Not so.

Individual returns are made available to government gumshoes for the most frivolous of reasons. With a minimum of ceremony, snoopers from a long list of federal, state, and local agencies can pry into almost anyone's financial secrets at the Internal Revenue Office.

The authorized list runs from A (Agriculture Department) to V Veterans Administration). It includes such assorted federal agencies as the Civil Service Commission, Federal Trade Commission, Health, Education, and Welfare Department, Housing and Home Finance Agency, Interstate Commerce Commission, Labor Department, Securities and Exchange Commission, Small Business Administration, Social Security Administration, and Tennessee Valley Authority.

Tax returns may be turned over to federal agents for such widespread purposes as establishing whether individuals are entitled to social security or veterans pension benefits, snooping on federal employes, checking applicants for radio and television licenses, investigating union welfare funds and running down anti-trust violations.

State and local authorities can also poke into income tax records on a multitude of excuses. Indeed, no one's returns are safe from government prying and peeping.

The only rule seems to be that the sleuths should be careful not to tip off the taxpayer. A typical federal agency has issued strict written instructions that "the taxpayer should be given no indication that the national office or other federal agency is interested in this matter."

Note — Sen. Ed Long, D-Mo., who is investigating invasions of privacy by government agencies, has assured this column that he will make a thorough probe of this wholesale leaking of individual tax returns.

Money, Anybody?

As a convenience for its globe-trotting members, Congress has authorized them to dip into the mountain of money which Uncle Sam keeps abroad, for any cash they may need to pay their personal expenses.

This column has now seen some of the vouchers that wandering lawmakers turned in last year to account for the francs, marks, pesos, and liras they spent on themselves.

All told, the taxpayers own $3 billion worth of foreign currencies in 83 different countries. These range from $1 billion worth of Indian rupees to $1 million in Laotian kips.

Touring Senators and Congressmen can walk into any American Embassy and stuff their pockets with this foreign tender to pay for their hotel bills, meals, night club tabs, tips, taxies and toiletries.

For instance, Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, found escape from the bitter Alaskan winters last year by flying off to warmer climes. In January, he took off for South America with his legislative aide, Herbert Beaser, to check on foreign aid expenditures. The following November, as the weather was turning chill again, Greuening and Beaser returned to South America to continue their investigation.

Together, they increased our foreign aid expenditures by $6,828.93 the first trip and $3,931.93 the second trip.

Gruening apparently occupied the best hotel rooms, as befitting a Senator. In Chile, for example, his hotel bill came to $662.33 as compared with 352.70 for Baeser. In Venezuela, Gruening paid out $445.50 of the taxpayers' currency for hotel accommodations; Beaser's bill amounted to only $377.60.

In Peru, the Senator charged up 1,530 Peruvian escudos to "miscellaneous," and in Ecuador he spent another 1,073 Ecuadorean sucres for the same thing. But these figures aren't as frightening as they look. In greenbacks, this amounted to only $57.30 and $50.42, respectively.

Sun Beckons

Sen. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, also chose last December as an appropriate time to inspect the missile tracking stations in sunny Bermuda and Puerto Rico. The trip cost the taxpayers $263.96 for his personal expenses, not counting the plane fare.

Sen. Dick Russell, D-Ga., one of President Johnson's closest friends in the Senate, ducked out on his friend at the height of the election campaign to inspect American bases in Europe. If he had campaigned for Johnson in Georgia, the Democrats might have won the state. But with Georgia teetering in the balance, Russell skipped off to Europe. He took along two aides, William Darden and Charles Kirbow.

He stopped by the various American embassies to pick up 3,625 German marks, 3,106 Austrian schillings, 3,180 Greek drachmas, 6,600 Spanish pesetas, and 3,929 Portuguese escudos for his personal use. Converted to dollars, this comes to $1,385.

Darden spent $1,375.14, Kirbow $1,411.61, in U.S.-owned foreign currencies.

For a Congressional delegation in Switzerland, the taxpayers shelled out $1,356.57 in Swiss francs for a glittering reception. It also cost the taxpayers $493.75 worth of Swiss francs for chauffeurs and limousines, another $380.59 for "lunches, dinner, and chauffeurs."

Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., was the only known congressional tourist who turned back money to the U. S. Treasury. In Switzerland, he picked up $208.15 worth of francs to cover his personal expenses. This turned out to be more than he needed, so he later reimbursed Uncle Sam $80.

Road To Saas-Fee

By John Crosby

SAAS-FEE, Switzerland

It's snowing on the Dom, which is the highest mountain in Switzerland (16,000 feet, higher even than the Matterhorn) and snowing on the Fee glacier—how many towns do you know that have their very own glaciers?—and snowing, in fact, all over Saas-Fee itself, which perches 5,600 feet above sea level like a mountain goat.

There's too much snowing for skiing, at least for my skiing. The young nuts from America — there's a whole busload of them here whooping down the mountain uttering their strange American war cries — will go up the Langefluh today, and ski down from its 10,000-foot summit through the snow-drenched clouds as if they were bright sunshine. But not me. This is a good day to talk about skiing rather than commit the deed itself.

I'm strictly a downhill, bright-sunshine skier, but I'm beginning to realize there are other nuts in the world who like to ski upwards in the worst weather. If there weren't, Saas-Fee would never have been founded at all. I'm talking to mine host, a 63-year-old cherub-faced Swiss named Heinrich Imseng. Imseng is practically everyone's name in Saas-Fee.

In the town square there's a statue of a priest in his cassock and his name is Imseng, too—Johann Joseph Imseng — practically the patron saint of the who valley because he invented, they will tell you here, both skis and tourism back in 1849. He is the 129th person I've heard credited with the invention of skis, but maybe he did at that. Saas-Fee is a mightly isolated town and they might have had to invent their own skis, not having heard that the Finns invented them much earlier and Neanderthal man even earlier than that.

Anyhow, Johann Joseph Imseng walked up to Saas-Fee from Saas-Ground, the only way to get here in those days, to tend a sick man. The next day he had the fantastic idea of fastening a couple of pieces of wood to his feet and sliding home. Later the good father preached to his villagers that tourism was much more remunerative than raising sheep — and he was sure right about that —and still later he built the first hotel in the area. A man of God with a very profound sense of double-entry bookkeeping and an ancestor of mine host, Heinrich Imseng, and also my ski instructor, Adelbert Imseng. As I said, the town is loaded with Imsengs.

"People is coming to live here in about the year 1300," said Henrich Imseng. "Before that people is using Saas-Fee only for the sheep and the cows." (Saas-Fee might be loosely translated as pastureland.) "Only one, two families in 1300. About a hundred years ago, some people is walking up from Visp to spend the summer."

Some walkers they were then. Visp is 12½ miles away, straight down. Not much if you like walking straight up, which I don't. About a hundred years ago a nutty Englishman was the first to climb the nearby Allalinhorn to its 14,000-foot summit.

That brought in the tourists, everyone else wanting to do it, too. There were no roads and no railroad to Saas-Fee then, so the tourists would arrive at Stalden, five miles away, and then walk, straight up, to Saas-Fee, the mules carrying their luggage. They were a tough breed of tourists in those days—Germans, Swiss, and English. No Americans.

"In 1930, we start building a road from Stalden," said Imseng. "It takes us nine years to build from Stalden to Saas-Grund"—a distance of only 3½ miles. If you could see the craggy, road-resistant, soaring mountain that leads here, you'd realize why it took so long. On the road up you pass clumps of houses with no roads to them and no observable paths, which cling to the mountain like a window cleaner to a skyscraper over a sheer drop, and the wonder is not that they managed to build a house in such an unlikely spot, but why.

"In 1949, we resumed building the road which had been stopped by the war and, in 1951, the road came to Saas-Fee," said mine host. You can drive to the edge of Saas-Fee but not further. You park outside the town. Inside you walk.

Imseng is a great walker himself. Before he settled down to inkeeping, he used to lead parties of tourists over the mountain on foot, clear across Switzerland to Chamonix in France. It exhausts me even to think about it. I'm strictly a downhill man and I can get pretty tired even doing that.

You're Telling Me!

The English seaside resort of Bridlington has banned the sale there of hot dogs garnished with onion because of the "unpleasant smell." If Americans now turn up their noses at Britain's beloved fish and chips, it could be because that combination is no aromatic treat, either.

Keyser Plant Considering Move To South

Emerson Pryne Co. Cites Economic Possibilities

KEYSER—R. B. Lidynd, president of Builder Products Division, Emerson Electric Company, St. Louis, has released information concerning the future of the Emerson Pryne Company in this community.

The statement in full is as follows:

"We met with our employes and certain community officials Friday to discuss the possibility of moving our Keyser plant to Bennettsville, S. C. We made it clear to them that we were still investigating the feasability of the move and wanted to get their comments and suggestions in connection with the move.

"I hope that it will not be necessary to close the Keyser plant as George R. Petras, plant manager, has expressed his deep appreciation for our excellent employes and union relations and the cooperation from the community.

"Unfortunately however significant and substantial cost saving would be made by consolidating our operations in the Bennettsville plant, which is approximately four times the size of the Keyser plant. These are important economic considerations which will have an important bearing on our future ability to be competitive in the builder products market. We will keep in close touch with our employes and the community on future development concerning Keyser."

There are 92 employes presently working at the local plant, which began operations February 1953.

Emergency Aid Saves Life Of Westernport Man

KEYSER — Thanks to the alertness and quick thinking of four men, Marshall Dayton, 76, Westernport, was able to get out of his bed at Potomac Valley Hospital.

Mr. Dayton was overcome by a stroke while shopping at the A&P Supermarket in Westernport Saturday. An ambulance was called to the scene, but prior to its arrival the four administered first aid, which according to a hospital report, played a major role in preventing brain damage and speeding recovery.

The four whose fast action prevented further complications were Robert Wills, temporary store manager, Charles Stewart, store clerk, Rev. Campbell, Piedmont and Robert Everline, a taxi driver for the Trenum stand in Westernport.

While waiting for the ambulance the men placed Mr. Dayton in the front seat of Mr. Everline's cab and applied external massage on the arms and legs. They also removed his teeth, allowing more oxygen to enter the system.

Fruit Growers Hire Firm To Promote Rain

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP) —A group of fruit growers in West Virginia, Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania has hired W. E. Howell Associates Inc. of Bedford, Mass., to operate a weather modification program in the four states for the 1966 season.

The Maryland Legislature, however, enacted a bill March 19 to prohibit weather modification for a two-year period, beginning with the 1965 growing season.

The purpose of the moratorium is to determine whether there is any connection between cloud seeding and the drought the past three years.

The Blue Ridge Weather Modification Association, which announced signing of the contract with Howell Associates, said there would be no cloud seeding this year because of uncertainties involving the Maryland legislation. The bill, which also covers 1966, apparently was enacted after the contract was signed.

Under the program, clouds are seeded with silver iodide crystals from aircraft based at Marinsburg Municipal Airport, supplemented by similar procedures from ground generators.

Farmers have actively opposed the program, contending that it produces drought conditions which normally would not occur.

The Blue Ridge association has conducted hail-suppression programs since 1958.

A bill introduced in the West Virginia Legislature to require registration of any weather modification programs died in a Senate Committee earlier this year.

Area KKK Wizard Attacks Attitude Of Pres. Johnson

HINTON, W. Va. (AP) — The imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan in West Virginia and Virginia believes a meeting between Klansmen and President Johnson "would be a farce."

W. E. Houchins, who said he heads a Klan membership of more than 500 in the two states, declared Johnson is "attempting a federal frameup" against the KKK.

Houchins, in an interview with a Charleston television station, said he could see no profit in a meeting with the President, as proposed by the KKK leadership in Alabama and Georgia.

Houchins, a sheet music salesman, called Johnson an "arrogant, heady, enigma" by "attempting to blame Klansmen for deaths in Alabama when they haven't been proven guilty."

"Lyndon Johnson follows the Communist Party line to the letter. He wants to force us into a classless, nameless, faceless, completely police-regimented society," Houchins said.

"If Johnson abolishes the Klan for whites, he should abolish watermelons and Cadillac cars for Negroes."

Cresaptown Club Wins Awana Olympic Trophy

CRESAPTOWN — The Calvary Baptist Awana Club received the trophy following Olympic games on Saturday in the gymnasium of Frostburg State College during which it competed with the Eckhart Club.

More than 175 boys and girls participated in the event and the teams were cheered by an audience of nearly 40 parents and interested friends.

Games included dodge ball, block relay, tug-o-war, jump the shot and relap spring.

Gerald Pase, commander of the winning club, said the Olympic event is the outgrowth of the game period of the weekly club meeting. Each club night is divided into game time, tribe time, crafts and Bible Council Time.

Awards are presented for achievements in Scripture memorization, crafts, club attendance, and Sunday School attendance at the church of one's choice.

The name AWANA is a acronym for "approved workmen are not ashamed" and is based on the Bible verse 2 Timothy 2:15.

Official headquarters of the Awana Youth Association is in Chicago. The national headquarters publishes a newspaper highlighting the events of the many clubs across the country, said Mr. Pase.

Question Do you think it would be a good idea to socialize funeral homes and have some agency of government operate mortuaries?
Answer The idea of transferring the functions of funeral service and burial to an agency of government has often been advanced in the United States but never seriously considered. Available evidence shows that the American public prefers to maintain the highly personal relationship achieved through use of a private facility. A reputable market research organization at one time studied public attitudes toward the funeral director and his practice. It was found that very few people were dissatisfied with the funeral director's handling of arrangements. Respondents were asked this question: "In the future, would you prefer to make arrangements for a funeral through a funeral director the way people do now, or through a representative of a government agency, such as a city, county or federal agency?" Out of every 100 people interviewed, 96 preferred to arrange funerals through a funeral director of their own selection.

Ford Frick To Remain Baseball Commissioner Through October 31

150 Prospects To Be Screened By Committee

Galbreath And Fetzer Will Report In May; 19 Owners Attend

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

BELLEAIR, Fla. (AP) — Ford Frick agreed Monday to serve as commissioner of baseball through Oct. 31 and club owners set up a two-man committee to screen candidates for the job.

The committee, composed of John Galbreath of the Pittsburgh Pirates and John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers, will report to another meeting of directors, set for May.

150 Prospects On List

No date or site was immediately set for the next meeting. From a list of some 150 prospects, Galbreath and Fetzer expect to submit 15 or 20 names which will be reduced to five or six prime candidates.

These prime candidates will be thoroughly studied — as to availability, qualifications and so forth — and then discussed in a subsequent top level meeting later in the summer.

Meanwhile, Frick, who has announced he prefers to retire at the end of his second seven-year term in September, has told the baseball men he will remain in office until his successor is named.

Galbreath, president of the Pirates, and Fetzer, president of the Tigers, took charge of the 16 unopened blue envelopes containing nominations from all but four of the 20 club owners. The other four will be solicited as quickly as possible.

"We're merely the work hands," Galbreath said. "We're not the men who will name the commissioner. We'll just do the screening and bring our findings to the other club owners."

The Pittsburgh owner said neither he nor Fetzer had opened the envelopes. Some of the envelopes were thick, indicating several nominations and recommendations; others were very thin.

19 Owners Attend

Monday's meeting here was attended by 19 of the 20 club owners, 10 in each league. The only absentee was Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs, who had another representative present.

Vandy Narrows List Of Colleges To Six

Steve Will Make Decision Soon, Probably In May

By ROBERT M. GORNALL
United Press International

Steve Vandenberg has narrowed a long, long list of colleges and universities down to six — including West Virginia University.

The 6-7, 225-pound Vandenberg says the list of nearly 100 schools wanting his signature on a basketball scholarship has been whittled to West Virginia, North Carolina State, Duke, Maryland, Illinois and Ohio State.

That's mighty tall timber for WVU to bargain with.

WVU Still In Running

But West Virginia is still very much in the running although at one time the last few months Steve said he had dropped WVU from consideration.

"Until a few weeks ago I had dropped West Virginia from the list, but I talked with Coach (George) King and he indicated he was interested in one of my Allegany teammates. So I'm interested again...maybe more than ever," he said.

The teammate is Dave Toey, a 6-9, 216-pounder who has played with Vandenberg all through junior and senior high school.

"He's looking better all the time and there's a lot of schools after him," Vandenberg said of Toey.

Toey Big Rebounder

Toey averaged about 20 points a game this year and was a big rebounder for the Campers. Vandenberg finished his scholastic career with a 27-point-per-game average.

"I want to stay close to home," says Steve. "I'm practically a West Virginian, anyway."

The Vandenberg home, located at Cresaptown near here, is flanked by the Potomac River which separates West Virginia from Maryland.

Vandenberg mentioned he wants to be a lawyer. Looking toward his education, he said he realized the "prestige" of some law diplomas carry considerable weight.

"I don't want to take anything away from West Virginia. It's a great institution," Steve said However, he did say that a law diploma from other schools, "like Duke," carry lots more prestige.

Big "Vandy" has made four trips to the WVU campus, the last being Sunday night when he was a guest of the Morgantown Touchdown Club. In addition, Coach King and his assistant, Bob Lochmueller, have visited here on occasion.

Makes Decision Soon

"All I can say is I'll make the decision soon, probably in May. No one has applied any pressure...all the coaches have been wonderful," he said.

Even though he hinted WVU did not have a law school comparable to some, he showed great interest in the past season's freshman basketball team. He specifically praised Ron Williams who he said was the "greatest."

Clark Cleared In Monza Crash That Killed 17

Magistrates Acquit Auto Racing Star

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Auto racing star Jim Clark has been fully cleared by Italian magistrates of any responsibility for a 1961 crash that took 17 lives at the Monza Autodrome.

The Milan newspaper Corriere Della Sera reported Monday that Dr. Renato Improta, the judge investigating the crash, said there was no case against Clark because the world champion "did not commit the fact," which is the fullest formula of acquittal in Italy.

A ruling in the case has been filed with the Monza District Attorney's office court, sources confirmed, but its contents were not revealed.

The accident involving Clark took place during the Sept. 10, 1961, Grand Prix of Italy auto race. German ace Wolfgang Von Tripps, who was driving a Ferrari, collided with Clark's Lotus and the German lost control of his car. Von Tripps was killed along with 16 spectators.

Last August, Prosecutor Robert Petrosino asked for Clark's acquittal on grounds there was no evidence of "unskillfulness, negligence, or imprudence" in his driving. Judge Improta accepted the prosecutor's conclusions.

Big 8th Gives Senators Win

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Pinch hitter Frank Howard singled home the tie-breaking run in a six-run eighth inning Monday as the Washington Senators overcame a four-run deficit and defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-8.

Don Lock batted in four runs for the Senators with a home run, two doubles and a single, giving him six hits in his last six times at bat.

The first six Pittsburgh batters hit safely against Pete Richert as the Pirates scored four runs in the first inning. Richert lasted five innings and gave up 11 hits.

Bob Friend attempted to go the distance for the Pirates but was taken out in the eighth inning after Lock's homer, a single by Bob Chance and Willie Kirkland's homer.

Detroit Defeats Whitey Ford, 2-1

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — Norm Cash drove in the winning run with a third-inning single off Whitey Ford Monday as the Detroit Tigers edged the New York Yankees, 2-1.

Ford went seven innings for the Yanks. He gave up six hits and both Detroit runs but didn't walk anyone. In his previous two outings, Ford had been clubbed for 15 runs and 20 hits in nine innings.

Bruce Brubaker, a rookie righthander, pitched the first five innings for the Tigers and was the winner. Joe Sparma finished up.

Don Wert homered for the Tigers in the first inning and Detroit pushed across the winning run on Brubaker's single, a sacrifice and Cash's decisive hit.

Maryland Netmen Edge Dartmouth, 5-4

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)— Maryland won its 1965 tennis opener Monday with a 5-4 victory over Dartmouth.

The key match was the No. 1 contest between Maryland's Jim Busick and Charles Hoevler, the New England junior champion. Busick won 6-2, 6-4.

Baseball's Future Book

Chicago White Sox's Ken Berry

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

SARASOTA, Fla. — It's Berry-picking time for Al Lopez this spring as the Chicago White Sox mentor tries to fill his center field spot with a 23-year-old youth by the name of Allen Ken Berry, up from Indianapolis and slated for the sun spot on the varsity.

Ken Berry showed plenty of promise in 12 games with the Sox last fall when he hit major league pitching for .375 after belting 20 homers for Indianapolis and earning the nickname of "The Bandit" because of his fielding ability.

The rookie hopeful believes he has a real chance to make the club this season and it's not his power, nor his batting average, which bothers him.

One of a Series

"I get a bigger kick out of making a good catch," he said in an interview here, "much more than hitting a home run."

Ken has been in the White Sox chain for four years after being signed by Ted Lyons for a $10,000 bonus back in 1960.

Ken started by hitting .309 for Clinton in 1961 and then went on to Visalia, Savannnah and Indianapolis. He had a few games with the Sox at the end of the 1962 and 1963 season but was given his biggest chance last autumn even though the club was in the pennant race.

Ken was an all-around athlete at Washburn High in Topeka although not in baseball for the school didn't have a ball team. He attended the University of Wichita for one year and played semi-pro ball at Liberal, Kan., on the side.

When Ken started out he was hitting with a closed stance and got by so they didn't want to change him. At Indianapolis, however, they were pitching him close and he wasn't doing so well. Al Lopez and Les Moss worked on it and he's opened his hitting stance now to good advantage.

Pastrano Faces Torres, Stable Tests Griffith

Fights May Attract Record Garden Gate

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Willie Pastrano and welterweight king Emile Griffith were favored Monday to retain their titles in a unique championship double-header that may sell out Madison Square Garden Tuesday night and break the arena's gate record.

Willie 6-5 Choice

Pastrano, the 29-year-old boxing master from Miami, was just a slight, 6-5 choice over Jose Torres, 28, a confident, hard-hitting New Yorker by way of Puerto Rico.

Griffith, the 27-year-old welterweight ruler from New York, was a solid 11-5 favorite over ambitious, 24-year-old Jose Stable, the No. 1 contender from New York.

This is the first title twin bill in the Garden's long history although multiple championship cards have been held elsewhere.

Harry Markson, the Garden's boxing director, said, "We have more than $200,000 in now and we should break the Garden's gate record.

"We still have some $15, $20 and $30 seats left. If the enthusiasm continues, we have a good chance to sell out for $250,000."

Record Set In 1947

The Garden record for a fight show is the $216,497 paid by 18,194 for the Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight championship on Dec. 5, 1947.

The two title 15-rounders will be seen on closed circuit television coast to coast at 86 locations in the United States and Canada.

Griffith and Stable will open the show at 9:30 p.m., EST. If it goes the limit, the light heavyweights won't go on until about 10:45 p.m., EST.

Bullets Host Hawks Tonight

Baltimore Could Vault Into Finals

Baltimore (AP) —The erratic Baltimore Bullets have a chance Tuesday night to vault into the finals of the National Basketball Association's Western Division playoffs.

All the Bullets have to do is defeat St. Louis to clinch the best-of-five semifinal series. Baltimore holds a 2-1 edge.

Bullet Coach Buddy Jeannette's biggest problem — one which plagued him all season — is to maintain his team's momentum.

Too often, the Bullets who finished a lackadaisical third in the Western Division, would follow a brilliant well coordinated performance with a night marish comedy of errors.

Tuesday night's game should provide a clue as to whether Baltimore can fashion a consistent game.

In the current series, the Bullets won the first game, dropped the second and in game No. 3 last Saturday put together an amazing 77-point second half and left the Hawks on the short end of a 131-99 score.

In the Eastern Division, Philadelphia leads Cincinnati 2-1 in that best-of-five series. The 76ers and the Royals go at it again on Wednesday in Philadelphia.

Bunker Shelled As Orioles Lose

Dodgers Defeat Baltimore, 7-3

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Tommy Davis slammed three hits and drove in two runs Monday to help the Los Angeles Dodgers beat Baltimore 7-3 and snap the Orioles' string of five straight exhibition victories.

Wally Bunker, who won 19 games as a rookie last season, pitched the first two innings for the Orioles and was shelled for seven hits and five runs.

Bunker, Herm Starette and Ken Rowe surrendered 13 hits, including two doubles by Jim Lefebvre, a single and triple by West Parker, and a single and double by Maury Wills.

Don Drysdale shut out Baltimore on three hits until the eighth inning. Then a hit batsman, a double by Jerry Adair, and singles by Rowe and Russ Snyder gave the Orioles their three runs.

Johnny Podres shut out Baltimore in the ninth.

Golden Nugget Wins 4th Place Playoff

Golden Nugget defeated the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose last night at the Fisher & Robinette Restaurant, 2-0, in a playoff match for fourth place in the National Division of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League.

Woody Filer paced the Golden Nugget with 16 points and Herman Lewis was high man for the Moose with tallies.

Golden Nugget will open a semi-final playoff series of six games with the Fort Ashby VFW tonight at Golden Nugget. The series will be concluded Thursday at Fort Ashby.

British Feather Champ Is Victor

CARMARTHEN, Wales (UPI) —British and European featherweight champion Howard Winstone used a left jab with piston-like precision Monday night to score a 10-round decision over Don Johnson of Los Angeles.

Winstone scaled 125 3-4 pounds against the 126 1-4 of Johnson.

Johnson was unmarked at the finish but Winstone had a slight cut over his right eye, while his nose bled for much of the fight. There were no official knockdowns.

Santo, Top Third Baseman At 24, Loves His Baseball In The Sun

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — What does a ball player do who slams 30 homers, drives in 114 runs, bats .313 — and winds up overshadowed by four third basemen in the National League?

If he's Ron Santo of the Chicago Cubs, he decides to improve.

"I'm never satisfied," says Ron. "If I hit .300, I want to hit over .300. If I drive in 114 runs, I want to drive in 120. As for the homers, they'll take care of themselves."

Despite his brilliant efforts last year, the 24-year-old third baseman wound up overshadowed by Ken Boyer of the pennant-winning St. Louis Cardinals and a trio of headline-grabbing rookies — Richie Allen of Philadelphia, Jim Ray Hart of Stn Francisco and Rico Carty of Milwaukee.

Did that bother Santo?

"No, not at all," he says. "I had as good a year as Boyer and when I'm 33 I just hope I'm as good a ballplayer as he is."

Santo's efforts in 1964 gave him two straight successful seasons following a disastrous 1962 campaign in which he hit only .227. The two-year record established him as one of the game's top stars.

"I learned more in that bad year," he says, "than in all the others combined. I think that's what started me on my move. What a lot of people don't realize is that I had a lot of personal problems that year and my weight went down about 20 pounds to 170."

Was it an advantage for him to play half of his games during the day at lightless Wrigley Field?

"I wouldn't call it an advantage as much," he says. "It's an advantage when you're at home because you can regulate yourself, eat regularly and sleep regularly. But when you go on the road and start playing at night it's a disadvantage because you have to readjust.

"It takes time for me to get used to night ball. The first few days the ball seems to come up to the plate like a blur. I don't know if it would be an advantage or disadvantage for any other player but I prefer playing when the sun is out.

"So, I'd have to say I'm strictly a day ball player as far as personal preferences go."

Allstate Tourney Delayed By Rain

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Rain caused another postponement Monday of the $10,000 Allstate Invitational golf tournament and the final round was tentatively set for Tuesday.

Jo Ann Prentice, a veteran pro from Pensacola, Fla., will carry a one-stroke lead into the 18-hole round scheduled to start at 9 A.M. (CST).

Tournament officials said if weather again prevents play, the 36-hole scores posted through Sunday will be considered complete, and Jo Ann will be named the winner.

Phillies Look Good With Added Power And Pitching

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series on the major league teams. Others will follow on this page daily.

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

CLEARWATER, Fla. — You don't talk to Gene Mauch, the Phillies' manager about last year unless you want to set a bad introduction for Mauch still is hurting about that collapse. In fact, Gene will tell you that he didn't go to too many places this winter so he didn't have to talk about it.

Gene, however, will talk about his 1965 club and speaks with as much optimism as generally emitted by Al Lopez, the Chicago White Sox manager who always predicts his club will do good—and it does.

"We've retained all the good things that almost got us there last year," says Gene, "and we added some things which could make us outstanding.

Add Hebert, Stuart

"No question our first base situation is the best it's been since I can remember. With Dick Stuart it's like having 30 or 35 home runs in your pocket before the season begins. I think, too, that Ray Herbert will surprise a lot of people. And Bo Belinsky has shown as good a stuff as you'd want to see in the big leagues."

STUART, the big first baseman from the Boston Red Sox, who hit 33 homers last year but always has left something to be desired as a fielder, will be spelled in late innings. Herbert was 6-7 with the White Sox and Belinsky, the one-time problem boy of the Los Angeles Angels, was 9-8 with that club last year.

The Phillies are a set ball club, and the pitching staff has six starters who have had some big years in the majors. With Jim Bunning, Chris Short, Art Mahaffey, Ray Culp, Belinsky and Herbert the second-place Quaker Town team of last year is rugged today.

"We have some nice looking young kid pitchers here, like Mike Wegener (Bluefield), Dave Bennett (Chattanooga) and Rick Wise (Bakersfield)," says Mauch, "but it's one of those years a kid would have to be great to break in.

In Memoriam

In memory of Mrs. Nellie V. Ralston who died March 29, 1958
We do not forget you, nor do we intend.
We think of you often, and will to the end
Gone and forgotten by some you may be
But dear to our memory you ever will be.
By her daughter Grace & Son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. George Mason

New Teaching Method Slated At Junior Highs

Cross-subject team teaching will be introduced on an experimental basis at Braddock (North End) and Washington (South End) junior high schools when they open next fall.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, said cross-subject is one of two types of team teaching. A subject-center team teaching program has been underway at Mt. Savage in earth science with three teachers handling the classes, each of whom "thinks strong," on one phase of the subject.

There is a difference. The subject-center team is composed of teachers of one subject who plan together for the best way to teach this subject. The cross-subject team is composed of teachers of different subjects who meet the same classes throughout the day or week. This type of team is guidance-centered and in planning meetings, focuses attention mainly on the students and their progress in the subjects.

In the Braddock and Washington seventh and eighth grades, subjects to be taught under the cross-section program will be science, mathematics and English. Instruction will consist of eight periods a day with three sections in each grade selected for the experimental program. Each section will be composed of 30 students or a total of 90.

The program will work this way:

In the first period, Section A will have English; Section B science; and Section C math. In the second period, Section A will have math; Section B English; and Section C science. In the third period, Section A will have science; Section B math and Section C English.

At the end of these three periods, the 90 students can be grouped in one room for remedial work with the three teachers. At the same time, they could be divided into any size group with one of the teachers, taken to another smaller room for study work, while students remaining would stay with the other two teachers for work periods or other study groups.

It would also enable the presentment of a new unit of study, a film or outdoor project to all 90 at the same time rather than three separate showings of a film or three separate sessions for the outdoor project.

One of the major benefits of the program in its flexibility but teachers must plan their program at least two weeks ahead with the cooperation of the school principal or general supervisor.

Auditoriums at both Braddock and Washington have been arranged to provide large group facilities. The auditoriums have adjustable seats and can be divided into three sections. In an "A" shape, the auditoriums can be divided by a sliding door, providing a large meeting room in the upper part of the "A" and two smaller rooms at the back. Between the two smaller rooms, is another room for film and slide projection equipment and the like. Floors in the auditorium are sloped so all students can see what is going on.

Clay County Poorest In W. Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Nearly half of the 1,450 jobholders in Clay County —West Virginia's poorest — work for the government, including school teachers and ADCU employes.

Clay County was listed by the federal government Sunday as one of 182 in the nation which qualify for 100 per cent federal aid under the war-on-poverty program because per capita income is below $750 a year and they cannot afford the regular 10 per cent matching fund requirement.

It was the only West Virginia County on the list, with an income figure of $726.

Figures released by the State Department of Employment Security Monday showed that the county work force totaled 1,740 as of last December, of which 290 or 16.7 per cent were unemployed.

Jobholders included 87 men in the Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed (ADCU) and 460 government workers, a majority of them in the school system.

The county's population was 11,942 in 1960 but it has been declining steadily in the past five years.

Navy-Hercules Adopt Plan To Keep ABL Busy

Plant Can Take Non-Defense Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of the Navy and of the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, near Cumberland, Md., agreed Monday on ways to maintain the laboratory's work load.

The ABL is operated by the Hercules Powder Co. on a lease basis as a ballistics weapons research plant for the Navy Bureau of Weapons.

Rep. Charles Mathias Jr., R-Md., said both sides reported to him after a closed meeting that progress was made.

He said the Navy agreed the laboratory could contract to do work for other government agencies and private businesses up to 25 per cent of production capacity. Should the contract work exceed 25 per cent the company would be required to seek consent of the naval bureau to handle the added load.

Mathias said William Fuller, representing Hercules, was pleased by the arrangement. Fuller said getting business on the outside would make it easier to keep the plant operating.

The plant, which had a peak employment of more than 2,500, lately laid off some of its workers, Mathias said.

Test Firing Of Sprint Successful

ABL Develops Interceptor

The Army yesterday announced a successful developmental test firing—the first—of its hypersonic Sprint Anti-missile missile at White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico.

The Sprint, a solid propellant missile, is being developed at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

It is an interceptor missile for Nike-X Missile Defense System to destroy attacking Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles and intermediate range ballistic missiles of submarine-launched type.

The firing was designed to test the missile's propulsion system and structure. The Sprint was launched from an above-ground launcher for the test. However the missile is being designed for tactical launching from underground cells.

Tests of the launch cell ejection system have previously been successful. The Sprint will be the first ground-launched missile to be "popped" from its cell rather than flown out.

The Sprint has the highest acceleration of any Army missile designed for tactical use and will be capable of intercepting an attacking war head within seconds after launch.

The development of the Nike X system is under the technical direction of Nike X Project Office of the U. S. Army Material Command, Col. I. O. Drewry, project manager with headquarters at Redstone Arsenel, Ala. Western Electric Company is the system's prime contractor and the Bell Telephone Laboratories are responsible for the system design and development.

The Sprint is being developed by the Martin Company at Orlandeo, Orlando, Fla. Hercules Powder Company, Wilmington, Del., is the Sprint Missile Propulsion sub contractor.

House Kills Windshield Sticker Bill

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Maryland House of Delegates killed by an overwhelming vote Monday a bill which would have required windshield stickers as proof of motor vehicle insurance.

The House voted 85-31 against a motion to substitute the controversial bill for an unfavorable report adopted earlier in the day by the Banking and Insurance Committee. The House adopted the unfavorable report and immediately rejected a motion to reconsider it, thus effectively killing the legislation for this session.

Both of the last two motions were adopted by preponderant voice votes after the key rollcall on whether the bill should be substituted for the unfavorable report.

The bill, pushed by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles John R. Jewell as a means of keeping uninsured cars off the highways, had passed the Senate March 12 with strong backing of Gov. Tawes.

Fight Was Bitter

It had been bitterly fought by the numerous insurance lobbyists at the legislature, who complained it would be an inconvenience and administrative headache for their companies and the estimated 95 per cent of Maryland motorists who carry insurance.

Del. James H. Caldwell, D-Wicomico, chairman of the Banking and Insurance Committee, said the committee had rejected the measure 12-5. He called it an attempt by the Motor Vehicles Department to pass on to private industry "its inability to administer the law as it now stands."

"We now have just such enforcement laws on the books, but instead of stickers they're called license plates," Caldwell said. He referred to authority of the D. M. V. to lift the license plates of an uninsured motorist.

Can't Enforce

Silver said the present law is almost impossible to enforce. He said insurance companies cancel policies faster than the commissioner can keep up with them and that State Police spent 24,000 man hours the past year in trying to track down uninsured motorists, not counting what local police may have spent.

Jewell had argued at public hearings that the sticker, as an immediately recognizable symbol that a vehicle was insured, would put enforcement onto the streets and highways instead of in the files of the D. M. V.

At present the company mails the commissioner a notice that it has cancelled a policy, and by the time the department checks it out and reaches the motorist, it often finds he has been reinsured by another company. The sticker bill was an attempt to

Restrictions On Campaign Spending Set By Assembly

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Maryland Legislature passed a bill Monday to tighten restrictions on campaign spending and to require more comprehensive disclosure of how the money is spent.

Final action was taken by the Senate on the bill, which was introduced on opening day, Jan. 20, after a summer's study by a committee. It underwent several revisions before acceptance.

As it stands, the most important change on campaign funds will be limits on expenditures by a candidate of his own money. Ceilings will be set for the first time ranging from $2,500 for local candidates to $20,000 for statewide office in the primary and a similar amount in the general election.

The limit on an individual contribution was unchanged, $2,500 to as many candidates and causes he wishes in each election.

Campaign treasurers would be held to a strict accounting. They would have to give receipts for any contribution over $10 and make detailed reports on recepits for any contribution over $10 and make detailed reports on receipts and expenses to either a circuit court clerk or secretary of state.

The reports would include a list of buyers of tickets costing more than $51 to fund raising dinners.

The reports would have to be filed seven days before an election, 30 days afterward and then if any bills were unpaid or there was a deficit as long as a year later.

Only one financial report 20 days after an election has been required.

The new law on corrupt practices, which is subject to signature by Gov. Tawes, also seeks to do away with hiring election day workers. In some sections, this is known as "walking around" money.

Legal election day expenditures would be confined to advertising, operation of a headquarters and providing transportation of voters to the polls.

A restraint on newspaper charges for political ads also is included. A paper could not impose a rate higher than local commercial schedule unless the political ad was placed by an agency.

City Waives Fee On Sewer Line

An order waiving a $1,956.41 sewer lien against the Potomac Edison Company was passed by the Mayor and Council yesterday.

The action was taken because the utility installed a sewer line at its own expense and donated it to the city when the firm built its service center in South Cumberland several years ago.

The firm will receive no benefits from the new sewer line installed on Memorial Avenue, the order pointed out.

Family Service Director Will Speak Here Tonight

Donald E. Perrin, executive director of the Hagerstown Family Service Agency, will speak at a public meeting at 8 p.m. today in St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Washington Street.

The meeting is sponsored by the Allegany County Youth Commission, whose counseling committee has been working toward establishment of such an agency here.

All persons interested in the establishment of such an agency, or simply in knowing more about the operation of a family service group, are invited to the meeting.

Some time ago, after the Youth Commission had heard an explanation of the necessary steps toward forming such an agency by Mrs. Margaret Murta, regional consultant for the Family Service Associations of America, a questionnaire was circulated in the county. Of those responding, 87 per cent expressed belief in a need for such an agency.

Mr. Perrin, who has been at Hagerstown since last July, formerly was a counselor with a family service agency in Beaumont, Texas, and is a member of the National Association of Social Workers.

A native of New Orleans, he entered Tulane University there in 1951, interrupted his education during the Korean war to enter the Air Force, then returned to college for his bachelor's degree in philosophy. After graduation he worked for a while before returning for graduate study, and received a master's degree in social work in 1962.

He spent a year as a medical social worker with the Veterans Administration hospital in New Orleans and the Louisiana Department of Public Welfare.

He is married and has a daughter.

Bay Bridge Plan Dealt Setback

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Administration hopes of building a second Chesapeake Bay Bridge alongside the present span were dealt a further setback late Monday when the Senate Finance Committee refused to act on the matter.

Chairman Harry R. Hughes, D-Caroline, sensing the feeling of the committee against bringing up the subject, postponed any further discussion of it until after Monday night's Senate session.

This means that the earliest the bill can be brought to the floor, once it is acted on by the committee, will be Tuesday—the last day of the session.

Asked what the delay might mean, Hughes said, "It puts the bill in jeopardy."

"But if I had brought up the subject of the parallel span this afternoon, the committee would have killed it," he said.

The bill to be acted on is a House - passed measure which struck out the parallel span and authorized the State Roads Commission to build a second bridge across the lower Chesapeake Bay — between Calvert and Dorchester counties — and a second Baltimore Harbor Tunnel.

The governor's hope has been of priority for a parallel span.

John B. Funk, chairman of the State Roads Commission who was waiting in the committee room to urge the administration amendment, was told by Hughes to come back after the evening Senate session.

"It will be no earlier than 10 o'clock and it might be later," Hughes told him.

Fitness Theme Of Program

"Look Mom, Muscles" was the theme of the program which was presented during a meeting of the Parent Teachers Association of East Side School.

Charles Waltman, physical education resource teacher, demonstrated various athletic activities with a group of sixth grade children.

John Duckworth, Mrs. Velma Hankinson and Mrs. Mary Dudley were appointed to the nominating committee.

Mrs. Arthur Howard reported on the walk bridge, as authorized by the Executive Board, and made a motion that the PTA go on record expressing concern for the safety of the children who will be using the bridge. The State Roads Commission is expected to be contacted on the matter.

Mrs. Robert Shipley, president of the group, said the next County Council meeting will be held on May 10 at East Side School.

Winners of the PTA membership campaign were Miss Betty Morgan, first prize, Miss Orpha Clark, second and Mrs. Helen Martz, third. Attendance awards for the evening went to Miss Betty Morgan and Miss Clark.

After a brief talk by Miss Agnes Lauder, principal, refreshments were served.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., Westernport attorney, will represent Mayhew, and John M. Robb, local attorney, was appointed by the court to represent Martin.

He will relieve Vice Admiral John B. Colwell in the Pacific, and according to a letter received by his father, William P. Roeder, 815 Elmwood Land, will leave with his wife and three daughters for the West Coast early in June.

His step-mother said last night that the new vice admiral, who was graduated from Allegany High School, completed studies in 1931 at the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

New Tags Deadline Tomorrow

A pedestrian's eye view reflects that quite a large number of Cumberland area motorists are going to get the full value of their old license tags prior to the deadline for new Maryland license plates at midnight tomorrow.

Employes at the Allegany County tax office can vouch that there are a lot of last-minutes buyers who have two more days to purchase the new gold and black plates which must be displayed Thursday morning.

Yesterday was the biggest day this year at the tax office where about 1,200 sets of tags were sold. Earlier this month 1,187 tags were sold in one day.

Today and tomorrow should be busy days for the employes at the tax office. Francis G. Philpot, tax collector, said that over 20,000 new license plates have been sold to date.

The tax office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and motorists are reminded to properly fill out their application form and insurance form before applying for their new tags.

Redistricting Bill Adopted By Assembly

Baltimore Loses One Congressman

By LOUIS G. PANOS

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Maryland Legislature brushed aside Baltimore City objections Monday and enacted a bill creating eight new congressional districts within the one-man, one-vote guidelines set by the Supreme Court.

Final action came in the House, which agreed to a Senate plan stripping Baltimore of one of its three congressmen.

The key vote was 84-45 to accept Senate amendments virtually rewriting a plan earlier approved by the House. The House-originated plan would have given the city two districts and enabled it to share a third with Anne Arundel County on its southern border.

Vote Decisive

The vote on final passage was 92-40.

The Senate amendments were adopted despite warnings from Baltimore delegates that the Senate plan might be petitioned to referendum. These delegates also emphasized that the new setup probably would mean the political demise of either Rep. George H. Fallon or Rep. Edward A. Garmatz, veterans of 20 and 18 years in the House of Representatives, respectively. Fallon is chairman of the powerful Public Works Committee and Garmatz is the second - ranking member of the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee.

Garmatz had earlier declared he would push for a referendum even on the House plan, which would have transformed most of his present district into a city-Anne Arundel County District.

Area Is 6th

Del. Thomas Hunter Lowe, D-Talbot, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, urged acceptance of the Senate plan, saying the legislature could no longer shrug off the need to reshape congressional districts.

No incumbent congressman is indispensable, Lowe said during the 30-minute debate on the Senate amendments.

"To try to cut up the state to save one of these men is gerrymandering pure and simple," he said.

Besides the two city districts, the plan would set up one district each wholly within Montgomery, Prince Georges and Baltimore counties. A sixth would be dominated by Western Maryland, another would embrace Southern Maryland, and the last would include the Eastern Shore, Harford County, and Northern Baltimore County.

Congressional Districts Are Drawn In Bill

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Here is how Maryland congressional districts would be aligned under legislation enacted Monday by the legislature, with the variances from the average district population figure shown at end of each district:

1st District—Worcester, Somerset, Wicomico, Dorchester, Talbot, Caroline, Queen Anne's, Kent, Cecil, and Harford counties, and election districts 6, 7, 10 of Baltimore County; population 329,826 according to 1960 census, 14.90 per cent under mean of 387,586.

Variance 14.3%

2nd — Baltimore County districts 1, 2, 3, 9, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15; population 443,331; variance plus 14.38 per cent.

3rd — Baltimore City wards, 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 26 and precincts 1-77 of ward 27; population 434,977; plus 12.23 per cent.

4th — Prince Georges County; 357,395; minus 7.79 per cent.

5th — Anne Arundel Calvert, Charles, Howard, St. Marys counties, ward 25 of Baltimore City; 393,680; plus 1.57 per cent.

Includes Allegany

6th—Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, Washington counties, election districts 4, 5 and 8 of Baltimore County; 360,086; minus .71 per cent.

7th — Baltimore City wards, 4, 11, 13 through 24, 28 and precincts 78-105 of ward 27; 440,466; 13.64.

8th — Montgomery County; 340,928; minus 12.04 per cent.

Delegates Back Districting Plan

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Here is the vote by which the house Monday accepted 84-45 a senate plan for reshaping Maryland's congressional districts:
